Speaker Challenges Class To Use Gift of Education

"All things are yours -- the world or life or death or the present or the future -- all are yours."

The Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, pastor of the First Methodist church, quoted St. Paul's words in his baccalaureate address Sunday evening to the 270 graduating seniors. The service was held at the band shell on the high school campus.

Parents and friends numbering about 400 attended the ceremony.

The Rev. James H. Trimble, pastor of the East Side Church of the Nazarene, called the group to worship and gave the invocation.

The senior boys quartet sang "You'll Never Walk Alone." Pianist Becky Wagener accompanied Rudy Manley, Roger Tolliver, Rick Fakes and Benny Eason.

The Rev. Mr. Wagner then delivered the sermon, "The Secret in Your Hand."

Urging the graduates not to neglect their gift of education, the Rev. Mr. Wagner, told of a neuro - surgeon who is achieving the epitome of success in his field in the United States, while the doctor's father lives in a filthy village in a grass hut, has four wives, can neither read nor write and can remember having eaten human flesh as a child.

"This is the power of education. It is what has happened in a single generation of this one family when one member used at least one of the gifts he has," the Rev. Mr. Wagner said.

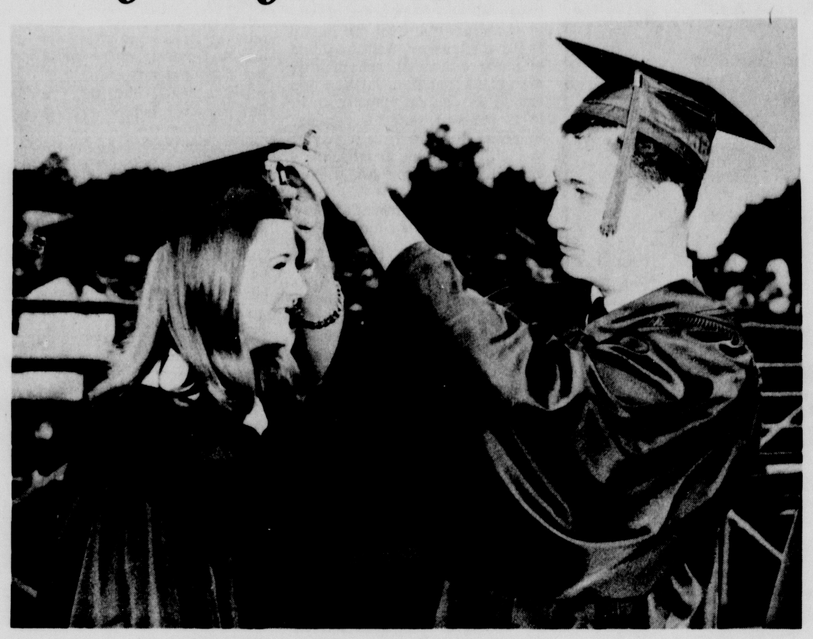

Speaking of the power of the "Holy Spirit", the Rev. Mr. Wagner continued, that down through the ages this secret in man's hand has filled him with wonder and awe.

But much of the feeling of greatness - of wonder -- of awe has been lost, he said. Even a lot of church services are completely void of the thrill of expectancy that comes when one feels the power of the Almighty upon him, he continued.

"I would have you accept this secret which holds for you the marvel of the church. That which began at Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit came upon it, was the church of greatness, filled with tremendous power. The Romans wanted to rid the world of it. The Nazi state tried to stamp it out. Russia has put its full power against it. That it should have existed at all is a marvel.

"Its history bears testimony to something eternal in it. And that secret is yours," he

Hundreds View Low Rent Housing at Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD - Several hundred turned out yesterday afternoon for the open house of the low rent city housing project.

Some of the 46 units have been furnished so that visitors could see how the homes would look when occupied.

Kitchens of the units are furnished with stoves and refrigerators, and units for the elderly are equipped with seating facilities in shower stalls.

The complex has been landscaped and has paved streets and driveways.

Total cost of the project was $566,357, which was lent to the Bloomfield Housing Authority by the federal government. A community center with a community room, kitchen, maintenance room and the housing authority office is in the center of the housing project.

Ralph Boyer Construction Company of Sikeston was the contractor.

Application are now being taken from persons who want to live in the project. Elmer Aslin is the housing authority director.

UNLIKE MANY HOUSING PROJECTS, Bloomfield low-rent homes vary in appearance. No two homes are alike. Ralph Boyer Construction Company of Sikeston was the contractor. Cost of the project was $566,357.

Aged Couple Escapes Serious Injury in Crash

DEXTER - An elderly couple escaped serious injury Sunday night when their car was hit by a Missouri Pacific freight train.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sibole were taken to Doctors hospital at Poplar Bluff suffering from cuts and bruises.

The car started to cross the tracks when it was hit in the left rear door by the train. Warning signal lights were flashing.

The accident occurred at the Walnut street crossing at 9:50 p.m. The train engineer was B.S. Miller of St. Louis. The train was pulling 100 cars.

Police Assist Woman Struck With Hammer

Sikeston police received a report calling for assistance to a woman who had been struck on the head with a hammer early Sunday morning.

Police reported that Rebecca Green, 42, identified as a Negro woman who resides on Compress Road, said her husband, Jim Henry Green, struck her on the head with a hammer early Sunday morning while she was in bed. She was treated and released at Missouri Delta Community hospital Sunday.

Sikeston police arrested Eddie W. Taylor, route one, and two juveniles, in connection with the theft of two six-volt batteries taken from a tractor on the Terry Dame farm, route one, Bell City.

The juveniles were turned over to the custody of juvenile officer Bob Summers. Taylor was transferred to Stoddard county authorities. He is charged with larceny, Sheriff Ralph Temples said today.

One of the juveniles is from Sikeston, the other is from Bell City, the sheriff said.

Fourteen persons were issued summons by police charging them with speeding Saturday on Murray Lane.

Planes Ignore Truce

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON AP -- U. S. planes ignored the Communist cease-fire for Buddha's birthday today and raided Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. Pilots reported shooting down one MIG jet.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the planes subjected northern and southern sections of Hanoi "to massive bombings." The U. S. Air Force did not say what targets were attacked.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported from Hanoi that the North Vietnamese capital was without electricity and water following Sunday's U.S. air raid on a power plant. Most of the plant was damaged, CTK added.

The Communists ushered in their two - day cease-fire with a dozen heavy mortar attacks before the deadline and a later attack on a U.S. force killed 15 Americans and wounded 71.

The Communists also blew the tracks from beneath a South Vietnamese military train nearly three hours after their 48-hour cease-fire was to have become effective at 7 a.m. Saigon time, or 7 p.m. EDT Sunday.

South Vietnamese and allied forces had said they would not begin their 24-hour truce for Buddha's birthday until one minute after midnight tonight, or 12:01 p.m. EDT today. The Communists caught a unit of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division as it was moving out on a sweep mission in the central highlands 33 miles southwest of Pleiku and at 7:02 a.m. opened up with intense mortar and rocket grenade fire.

U.S. headquarters said the American infantry battled an estimated Red battalion of perhaps 500 men for four hours. Thirty-two of the enemy were reported killed.

Under the generally understood ground rules for cease-fires in Vietnam, the Reds could have considered the U.S. sweep as an offensive action and their attack as self-defense.

After hard fighting Sunday just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. military headquarters said no contacts were reported today along the Ben Hai River line in the zone where U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were consolidating their positions.

About 1,000 Marines overran Communist positions Sunday near the Leatherneck outpost at Con Thien. A U.S. spokesman said 36 North Vietnamese soldiers and 59 Marines were wounded.

In the 12 hours before the Red cease-fire, the Communists

Seven Hurt in Rear End Crash

Seven were injured in a two-car collision at 8 p.m., 12 miles south of Sikeston on highway 61.

A 1962 Buick, driven by James Fort, 22, St. Louis, slowed to make a right turn when he was struck in the rear by a 1963 Cadillac, driven by Wilburn Garner, 44, Sikeston. Garner was given a summons by the state patrol for careless and imprudent driving too close behind a vehicle.

Five in the Fort car received minor injuries. They were treated and released from the Missouri Delta Community hospital. They were Edna Davis, 19, Charleston, S.C., Mattie Fort, 21, and Stella Richardson, 23, both of St. Louis, Annie Fort, 40 and Sarah Fort, 20, both of Benton.

Injured in the Garner car were Essie Garner, 74, Sikeston, cuts on face and chest injuries, and Beulah Garner, Sikeston, minor injuries.

Saturday at 4 p.m. on route Y, three miles west of Sikeston, three were injured when a 1962 Chevrolet pickup truck collided with a 1959 Cadillac.

The Cadillac was driven by Isaac Brown, 21, Marion, Ind. Injured in the car were Frank Brown, 24, route one, Benton, elbow and hand bruises; Geneva Baker, 30, Marion., bruised knee, and her five-month old daughter, Seretha Baker, cuts on the forehead.

Russell Jones, 44, route one, Sikeston, driver of the truck was arrested on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Sunday at 2:15 p.m. on highway 102, five miles southeast of East Prairie, a 1966 Chevrolet driven by Ronald Ray, 23, East Prairie, stopped for a left turn and a 1964 Pontiac, driven by Joseph Bishop, 71, Sikeston, and a 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Robert Williams, 23, Charleston, went into a ditch to avoid a collision.

No one was injured.

AN UNIDENTIFIED non-flying object believed to be an owl, was found in a garage at the Tom Taylor residence, 314 Franklin. Taylor holds the bird, whose wings have been clipped.

Monkey Faced Owl Found

Police departments and newspapers are noted for receiving unusual reports.

Honors over the weekend went to the police department.

The caller reported that a strange bird with the face of a monkey and feet like a chicken was found in his garage.

Police checked the call and reported that Tom Taylor, 314 Franklin, had found an owl with its wings clipped. Taylor is looking for the owner. The bird hasn't eaten anything since it was found.

Taylor first saw the strange-looking bird at about 5 p.m. Thursday. He parked his car in the garage and saw it perched on a piece of plywood.

"At first I thought it was a toy, or stuffed animal," Taylor said.

"Some of the neighbor kids have a few stuffed birds."

He noticed the bird's head and eyes were following him as he passed it in the garage.

"Wait a minute!" Taylor thought to himself.

He then went in his house, put on a pair of gloves and returned to the garage. He caught the bird and put it in a small cage.

The bird is gentle and has soft downy feathers. It is a light brown color with black speckles.

Taylor said his wife reviewed bird pictures in the public library Friday, but could find nothing like it. He believes it is a foreign bird.

When excited the bird makes a noise similiar to the hiss of natural gas escaping from a valve. It seems to perceive the color red and becomes excited when it is near him.

How the bird got in the garage is anybody's guess. It must be somebody's pet.

Garrison Says CIA Covering up

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison says Lee Harvey Oswald did not kill President John F. Kennedy and that the CIA knows who did.

"Purely and simply it's a case of former employes of the CIA, a large number of them Cubans -- having a venomous reaction from the 1961 Bay of Pigs episode . . .certain individuals with a fusion of interests in regaining Cuba assassinated the president," Garrison says.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Central Intelligence Agency said the organization would have no comment on Garrison's remarks, made Sunday night in a 23-minute interview with newsmen Bob Jones on WWL-TV.

Garrison said the CIA knows "the name of every man involved and the name of the individuals who pulled the triggers" to kill John F. Kennedy.

He says the CIA has "infinitely more power than the Gestapo and the NKVD of Russia combined." He referred to police organizations of Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union.

Garrison said it would take "only 60 minutes for the CIA to give us the name of every last Cuban involved in this and that's how close we have been to the end for sometime, but we are blocked by this glass wall of this totalitarian, powerful agency which is worried about its power."

He repeatedly charged the CIA with blocking and attempting to block his investigation, begun last fall, and "as a result I think that in closing out the case the final details of evidence that we want will take us much longer, but we're not going to compromise. We're not going to quit. We're going to get them anyway."

At another point, Garrison said: "I don't believe they can stop us. They can just delay us."

He charged the CIA "through devious ways and through intermediaries is actually paying lawyers to block the completion of the investigation. What it's doing, is a criminal act. And if the director of the CIA and the top officials of the CIA were in the jurisdiction of Louisiana I would charge them without hesitation."

The district attorney told Jones he had located photographs "in which we have found the men behind the grassy knoll and stone wall before they dropped completely out of sight. There were five of them not distinct enough you can make an identification from the faces."

"The point is," Garrison continued, "the Warren Commission said nobody was back there and they had to say nobody was back there because not enough evidence was presented for them to make any other conclusion."

The commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, concluded that Oswald shot Kennedy and said it could find no evidence of any conspiracy.

Oswald was not a CIA agent, said Garrison, "but he was an employe of the Central Intelligence Agency as were the anti-Castro Cubans with whom he associated." The Warren Commission pictured Oswald as a pro-Communist.

"The point is he not only was not a Communist, but he was an anti - Communist who was working for the CIA," Garrison told Jones. "One this tragedy occurred, the CIA's attitude seemed to have been, 'Well, President Kennedy is a casualty of the cold war. And, as to this kid - Oswald ,-- that's just one of those things. The cold war must go on. The cover must be kept."

In another development Sunday, Gordon Novel, one of the witnesses Garrison is trying to return to Louisiana, reportedly was wounded superficially by sniper fire at Nashville, Tenn.

A radio station official told police of the shooting incident.

Baby Burned By Skillet

DEXTER -- Paula Rene, 16-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Don Griffey, sustained first and second degree burns when she pulled an electric skillet off a stove at her home Sunday afternoon.

She was taken to Doctors hospital in Poplar Bluff.

16 Treated For Injuries

Sixteen persons were treated in the Missouri Delta Community hospital emergency room Saturday and Sunday. Eleven were involved in car accidents.

Treated on Saturday were, Seretha Baker, Marion, Ind., car accident; Debra Kay Eby, fell on nail and injured hand; Geneva Baker, Marion, Ind., and Marie Butler, both of Marion, Ind., car accident; Frank Baker, Benton, car accident; Beulah Garner, car accident; Mattie Fort, St. Louis car accident; Annie Fort, Benton, car accident; Edna Davis, Charleston, S.C., car accident; James Fort and Stella Richardson, both of St. Louis, car accident; Nora Smith, Bertrand, stepped on nail.

Treated Sunday were Carl Matheny, East Prairie, motorcycle accident; Joseph Bishop, car accident; Deborah A. Patterson, Bell City, injured elbow while skating; Hiram G. Gillian, Canalou, fell over tree stump.

Illness Proves Fatal for Police Judge Schrader

Edwin Raymond "Bud" Schrader, 56, city police judge seven years, died at 2:15 p.m. Saturday in the Missouri Delta Community hospital, where he was admitted May 4.

He had been in ill health more than a year, and had a throat operation last year.

He was a commission agent for the Continental Oil Company.

Schrader, was born in Cape Girardeau, Feb. 25, 1911, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schrader. He married Elizabeth Mollenhour of Jackson Nov. 10, 1935. The family moved to Sikeston in 1936.

He became interested in Little League baseball and was one of the first backers of the Little League and Babe Ruth League. He received an award for his work in youth activities last year.

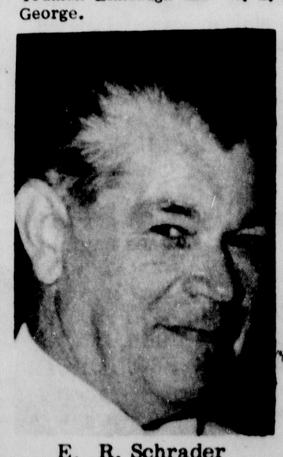

He was elected city judge April 8, 1960. After the government was changed to the city manager form he was appointed to the office Feb. 27, 1961, and had served since. He was a member of Concordia Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Eddie Schrader; two grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Anna Schrader; two brothers, Charles Schrader and Harlan Schrader, both of Cape Girardeau; and one sister, Mrs. Walter Isaac.

Services were today at 2 p.m. in the Lutheran church, with the Rev. Harold Belsheim pastor, officiating.

Burial was in the Garden of Memories cemetery, with Nunnelee Funeral Home in charge.

Pallbearers were V. L. Kirby, Chief of Police Arthur Bruce, Billy Walker, Wayne Baker, Truman Limbaugh and W. L. George.

Vehicle Checking Plugged

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Will W. Davis predicted today a motor vehicle safety inspection bill will pass the Missouri Legislature and promised that politics would have nothing to do with its administration.

Davis is Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' press secretary and spoke in his behalf. He made the comments in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Missouri Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association, Inc.

Under the motor vehicle inspection law, which Davis said is expected to be reported favorably by a House committee, inspection stations would be designated by the Highway Patrol.

". . . I might emphasize," he said, "that this inspection program is strictly nonpolitical — no endorsements or good words from anyone along the rungs of the political heirarchy will be needed to be chosen as an official inspection station."

Motorists will pay $2.50 for the annual inspections of brakes, lights, signals, horns, windshield wipers, tires and so on. Of this amount, 50 cents will go to the highway patrol to finance the program.

Davis said the Governor is in Little Rock, Ark., today conferring with Gov. Wintrhrop Rockefeller about the possibility of a toll turnpike south from Kansas City to Arkansas and New Orleans.

He said the new turnpike authority created by a bill signed last week is seeking ways to get a feasibility study under way even before the new law becomes effective Oct. 13.

The authority is composed of the Governor and the six-member Highway Commission. Outside engineering consultants will be hired for the feasibility studies.

Davis noted that other possibilities that have been discussed include toll roads from Kansas City to the Hannibal area toward Chicago and from the center of the state to the Southeastern Missouri Bootheel area.

"From this vantage point in its development," he said, "the prospects are not only limitless, the benefits of these new pay-as-you-go roads are so great, that I am sure no one would wish to make too many predictions as to the tremendous implications contained in the legislation that launched us into this new concept of roads, their financing and their enhanced value to every Missourian regardless of his purpose of travel."

Optimists Will Organize Boys Baseball League

A citywide baseball league for boys, nine through 14 who are not on a team, is being formed by the Optimist club, according to an announcement at the club's meeting this morning in the Rustic Rock Inn.

A committee was appointed by President John Harper to arrange a schedule for the opening games June 8. Don Baker is chairman, Claude Benney, Jerry Callow, Pete Barnes and W. L. Clayton are members.

The group will have charge of transporting boys and meet with boys for team placement.

A second committee will oversee the program, appoint officials and provide equipment. It is composed of Sam Harbin, Don Baker, Joe Barnes, Glenn Greene and Bill Kiefer.

The program will be under the Community Action Agency, directed by Bill Paylor.

Guests at the meeting were Estes Caldwell, Truman Statler, Arnold Strickert, Jim Jones and Harold James, all of the Jackson Optimist club.

Charge Filed After Seizure Of Still

CHARLESTON - Eddie Moss, 73, who was placed in the Mississippi county jail, following the seizure of a still in operation on a farm on which he was employed, has been charged with a misdemeanor.

The charge is for possession, manufacturing distilled and blend intoxicating liquor, without a procurement license from the liquor supervisor. It has been filed in magistrate court.

The home made still with its contents were seized early Friday morning by Sheriff W.J. Simmons.

Federal agents are investigating.

Change is an essential ingredient in modern life.

It has come at a fast pace during the lives of all of today's inhabitants of the earth.

The Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, formerly the pride of the British Atlantic fleet, are going into moth balls. The big ships are too expensive to operate and can't compete with swift jet air travel between the United States and Europe.

Down in this part of the nation, the announcement that the Hotel Cairo is going to be demolished evokes mixed feelings.

The hotel was once the finest between St. Louis and Memphis.

Less than a decade ago it gave travelers from the North a gracious introduction to the South.

Motorists came into Cairo with the first sight of mistletoe growing in tree tops. At the Cairo Hotel the visitor could buy country ham and redeye gravy served plantation style.

The traveler was in a different world when he reached Cairo. Once crossing the Ohio river, he knew that he was in the South but Cairo was the gateway.

It is futile to grieve about the passing of the era, which made the Cairo hotel obsolete. In many respects it is better that the old structure will be torn down rather than stand sadly as the ghostly sentinel of another day.

The absence of the hotel and changing highway travel habits will present a tremendous opportunity to Southeast Missouri.

Residents of North Central states usually travel through Illinois and Cairo on their way to both the Mid-South and the Southeast. When Interstate 55 is completed from St. Louis to Memphis, much of this travel may be expected to come over this more direct route to the South.

St. Louis, once difficult and slow to travel through, can be speedily traversed by multiple lane expressways feeding into the Interstate.

No longer will be desirable to avoid it and travel out of the way in order to do so. Slow, curvy and hilly Missouri roads will be eliminated.

Southeast Missouri will be more attractive to travelers if it develops its own recreational areas, gives its visitors attractive quarters for overnight lodging and can provide good food in clean, comfortable, cheerful surroundings - all at reasonable cost.

Perhaps our own hospitality can match or even improve on that of the Hotel Cairo dining room in its opulent heyday.

Every Southeast Missouri citizen can help create the climate which will make this region attractive to visitors, an effort that could prove to be as profitable as it is pleasant for all residents of this region.

Several states have discovered "treasure chests" riding at the front and rear of automobiles - license plates.

They issue "personalized" plates, and drivers pay extra money for them. In Connecticut, for example, drivers pay $10 extra for a pair of them and have swelled the state treasury by $540,000 since 1937.

Among the states issuing personalized plates, which has led to a national word game, are Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Texas, Ohio and Oregon.

In Texas, where personalized plates are covered with a reflective material that converts them into "safety" tags that brilliantly reflect the headlights of other cars, the ideas for auto tags, as one might expect, come large and tall in the best traditions of the state.

Although not the caped crusader of TV fame, one Texan has plates that read BATMAN. Another Texan's car carries "royal flush" plates - AKQJ10.

There's an 007 in Ohio and a BAM 007 in Oregon.

The special plates often lead to humorous results. In Connecticut, there's a DAFT, FUN, I.Q., GIN, and even a BURP and an OOPS.

The I.Q. tags belong to insurance broker Hugh Jeffries of Simsbury, who has an IQ of 140-plus. In a similar way, other plates tend to identify or classify motorists and their interests. Here are some examples.

--Jeanne and Felix Klock, who head the Klock Corporation, have TICK and TOCK plates for the two family cars.

-- In Hartford, nuns from St. Joseph's Convent drive around town in a station wagon labeled DEUS, and cause a few smiles because it is the Greek word for God.

--Alexander DiFronzo, who is conductor of the 79th Army Band, is the owner of BAND tags.

--The owner of GIN, Miss Juliett Higgins, is going out of the restaurant business but into the liquor business.

--Veterans of the Army and the Navy are the owners of, respectively, as you might imagine, ARMY and NAVY plates.

Other Connecticut plates, without explanations for their choice, are AHOY, BANG, BOO, BLAH, CHIC, DOC, DOLL, EGAD, GOOF, LEER, LOVE, LUSH, MEOW, NAG, OBOY, OINK, PROF. CHOP AND SUEY.

There's even and END.

Annual reports covering endowments of four Ivy League universities show steady emphasis on common stock investment, particularly in New York Exchange-listed issues. Harvard's General Investments totaled $975 million, 54.7 per cent in common stocks; Yale's Endowments totaled $470 million, 69 per cent in common stocks; Princeton's Pooled Funds, $311 million, 73.6 per cent in common stocks; Columbia University's Pooled Funds, $210 million, 44.3 per cent in common stocks.

CITIZENSHIP BY GEOGRAPHY

Government agencies have received so many inquiries about the meaning of the phrase "natural born citizen" in the Constitution that special studies of the matter will be issued shortly. The question arises, of course, in connection with the eligibility of George Romney to become a candidate for President.

Article 2 of the Constitution says: "No person except a natural born citizen. . .shall be eligible for the office of President." Romney was born July 8, 1907, in Chihuahua, Mexico, 200 miles from the U.S. border. He was the son of U.S. citizens Gaskell and Anna (Pratt) Romney, who were members of a Mormon colony there.

Romney's grandfather had been forced to flee from Arizona to Mexico in 1885 because he practiced polygamy. When Romney was five years old, American families were expelled from Mexico by Pancho Villa, the Mexican border bandit and nationalist leader. The Romneys, who finally settled in Salt Lake City, never relinquished their American citizenship.

The question of Romney's birth is not new. It was raised as a theoretical constitutional bar to his filling the Presidency at least five years ago. The issue is academic at this time. Nevertheless, Rep. Emanuel Celler on May 14 expressed "serious doubts" as to Romney's eligibility. "I think the matter should be laid to rest," said Celler, "with some sort of pronouncement by a group of men who are responsible and whose word would be taken on faith."

Astonishingly enough, the question never has been answered by judicial decision or legislative action, though legal channels have come close. The citizenship requirement apparently provoked neither debate nor opposition among the framers of the Constitution, but requirements of age and residence were discussed.

Eleven of the Federalist papers deal with the executive office. None of them discusses the citizenship requirement.

The First Congress in an Act to Establish an Uniform Rule of Naturalization ruled: "The children of citizens of the United States that may be born beyond sea, or outside the limits of the United States, shall be considered as natural born citizens of the United States." But Congress has no authority to interpret the Constitution. The early immigration act would constitute only legislative history which a court might consider in case of a challenge to the eligibility of Romney or any other foreign-born citizen.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., born Aug. 17, 1914, at the Roosevelt summer home at Campobello Island, a stone's throw beyond the boundary of Maine, was accepted into the House of Representatives in June 1949. He had to be a citizen to serve in the House. He was not a naturalized citizen. A Supreme Court decision of 1898 (U.S. vs. Wong Kim Ark) held that the 14th Amendment "contemplates two sources of citizenship and two only, birth and naturalization."

By this reasoning, the House accepted young Roosevelt as a citizen by birth. Of course the House has no "natural born" requirement.

Prof. Edward S. Corwin of Princeton has written: "Should the American people ever choose for President a person born abroad of American parents, it is highly improbable that any other constitutional agency would venture to challenge their decision." Anybody who entertains ideas about sidetracking Romney had better begin reaching for the switch now.

The moon shone silver on the waters of the ocean and the waves beating on the shore were hardly equal in intensity to the waves of passion on the beach nearby. One ardent couple pulled apart long enough for the young man to whisper: "Darling, am I the first man to make love to you like this?"

Her tone when she answered was irritable. "Of course you are," she said. "I don't know why you men always ask the same ridiculous question."

VISITORS SPARK U.S. TRAVEL TRADE

The U.S. drive to attract more visitors to the United States is making slow but steady progress. In the first eleven months of last year, the volume of pleasure and business visitors from overseas rose by just over eleven per cent, the United States Travel Service reported.

The U.S.T.S. indicated that visitors from overseas in November of last year showed little gain over the same month in 1965.

The impact of the currency restrictions on British travelers appears to have been one factor in this showing. The number of visitors from the United Kingdom declined by over six per cent in the month. In the eleven months as a whole the gain in visitors from Britain was twelve per cent.

The next largest contingent from overseas was from Germany, followed by the French. The biggest increase was in visitors from Brazil, the number of which were up over twenty-nine per cent.

DIESELS SET SPEED RECORD

Two new 3,600- horsepower diesel units recently set what is believed to be a coast to - coast speed record for a freight locomotive.

In a high - speed demonstration run conducted by the diesel locomotive manufacturer, the two units traveled 3,325 miles from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast in the elapsed time of 96 hours, 40 minutes.

The average speed was 34.38 m.p.h.

BACK TO SCHOOL BLUES

Exhausting wasn't it - that end of summer scramble to get the youngsters ready, set and off again to school? And there's no way to avoid a certain amount of last minute hustle. For who can be sure, in mid-July or even early August, just how long the trousers will have to be, or how big the shoes, for a school-age youngster, come that first week of September?

Exhausting in another sense, too. We suspect most parents noted that it cost more for those new school outfits this year than last, just as last year cost more than the year before. But before jumping to the conclusion that this is because the makers and sellers of clothing and shoes decided to hike the price for fatter profits, it's a good idea to look at some facts.

Take shoes, for example. According to government statistics - and the National Footwear Manufacturers Association agrees this is correct - the retail price of shoes increased 3.6 percent since the first of the year. But government studies also show that the price of cattle-hide leather, which the shoe manufacturer must buy, has gone up 14.4 percent in the same period. Cattle - hide prices of cattle - hide leather, which the shoe manufacturer must buy, has gone up 14.4 percent in the same period. Cattle hide prices have increased a little more than 25 percent.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture informs us that between 45 and 52 percent of the manufacturer's cost for shoes is for the leather. With the price of other essential shoemaking materials (buckles, nails, laces and so on) having risen from 10 to 18 percent, that 3.6 percent increase that we have to pay at the store for the finished product doesn't seem so bad after all.

One might even wonder how the shoe industry can do it, and still leave itself enough margin of profit that it can afford to stay in business. A trade association survey shows the industry's profit margin to average about 2.1 percent. We figure the only people qualified to complain about a manufacturer getting that much profit would be those who are willing to work in his factory for nothing more than their board and keep.

It's all too easy to blame the merchant and the manufacturer when the things we have to buy cost more each year. The fact is that they, like ourselves, are caught up in that nationwide financial circumstances sometimes referred to as "inflation." We need to look elsewhere for the cause of that. It is, indeed, a mark of responsibility to customers, as well as of technical competence, when a private industry keeps the price increase for its finished product comparatively lower than the increased cost of raw materials and labor.

PENCILS VERSUS GUNS

At this time, when nations all around the world are struggling to establish governments, which give the individual the right to a secret ballot, United States citizens should avail themselves of the right to vote at coming elections.

For nearly 20 years, United States citizens have enjoyed the privilege of being rulers of a republic, where the individual is boss and by his ballot can preserve his liberties. Unless one has lived under a dictator, it is hard to imagine what it would be like under a political system from which there was no relief except by revolution.

In the United States, you don't need guns and bullets to get rid of a tyrant, from the lowest to the highest public office. All you need is a lead pencil and a paper ballot. Don't pass up your right to vote at every election. Remember it cost many men their lives to give you the privilege of using the ballot. It is your guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. VOTE.

H.L. Hunt Says

PENALIZING SMALL STATES

Thirty - nine states of the Republic would be severely penalized by adoption of the direct voting plan of electing the President.

These are the states whose votes, even under the present Electoral College system with its unit rule giving all a state's electoral votes to the high man, could be overridden by votes in the 11 largest states. But at present the 39 at least have one presidential elector for each member of the U.S. Senate and House. They would lose this advantage under the direct voting plan.

Great concern for protection of small states against the larger ones was expressed by the Founders of Freedom as they struggled to write a Federal Constitution. The Electoral College system they devised was based on principles they regarded as absolutely essential to the establishment of a Republic.

This system has been changed in practice from its original concept. But this does not mean that the Electoral College ought to be abolished, which would be the effect of direct voting for President and Vice President. Reform, not abolition, is needed.

The Congressional District Plan is by far the best of any proposed for reforming the Electoral College. It would give the voter in the smallest state the same power -- no more, no less -- as the voter in the largest state. Every state, large or small, would have one Elector for each congressional district and two from the state at large. The voting on Electors would be by districts, and each candidate for President would receive only those electoral votes he won at the polls. HLH.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Among the findings which Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., suppressed during his investigation of sex and violence on television was a sobering summary by Dr. Ralph Garry, a special consultant from Boston University.

In an undated memo to Dodd, Dr. Garry cited these staff findings:

"1. Staff inventory shows that the industry has taken no steps to regulate itself. Not only have programs with a large dosage of violence trebled, but the portrayal of the macabre and sadistic has increased.

"2. The National Association of Broadcasters has filed to take any significant action in applying NAB code to network programs.

"3. Research evidence submitted by experts, acknowledged by the television industry, rejects the oft-used excuse that violence and aggression on television relieves children of such feelings.

"4. In spite of prior statements by network personnel that if such programs could be shown as harmful they would be stopped, network officials ignored or rejected the research evidence.

"5. Networks control programming to a greater degree than heretofore. . . .

"6. Networks have exploited the use of sex, crime and violence to attract or hold audience, although maintaining the opposite or minimizing same."

As chairman of the State Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, Dodd had the duty to expose how the television networks, in pursuit of the advertising dollar, were bringing murder and mayhem, sex and sadism into the homes of America.

Instead, Dodd huddled privately with network officials, then proceeded to suppress the most damaging evidence. The senator readily agreed, for example, to take NBC Chairman Robert Sarnoff's testimony behind closed doors.

DON'T - CALL - US - WE'LL --CALL - YOU --

Gratefully, one of the attorneys representing NBC, Tom Meeker, wrote Dodd a "Dear Tom" letter.

"Thank you for seeing us yesterday," wrote Meeker. "Mr. Sarnoff appreciated your willingness to hear his testimony in closed hearings and would prefer to make arrangements for the same subsequent to his return from Africa in about five weeks. In accordance with your chat yesterday, I will call you Monday afternoon."

When it finally suited Sarnoff's convenience to appear, Dodd summoned his chief counsel, Paul Laskin, to his office a few minutes before the hearing. Laskin was astonished to discover Robert Sarnoff and Attorney, Bernard Segal, in the room.

In front of the witness whom Laskin was supposed to cross-examine in a few minutes, Dodd let loose a torrent of abuse against his chief counsel. The senator accused Laskin of pressing the investigation too hard and roared that he would no longer tolerate such aggressiveness.

The berated Laskin was so upset that he suffered a nosebleed on the way to the hearing room. With the press and public shut out, the hearing began with an air of cordiality. Sarnoff was welcomed as a returning hero rather than a witness under investigation.

He was allowed to read a long, self-serving statement. Then Laskin started cautiously to ask a few questions. But Dodd arbitrarily cut him off, and the hearings ended without a single probing question asked.

Dodd was considerably less courteous to David Levy, the former NBC program director, who admitted behind closed doors that the network had deliberately injected sex and violence into its shows. He identified Robert Kintner, then NBC's President, now a White House aide, as the architect of this policy.

The senator, listening impatiently to Levy, grumbled: "I don't think we are getting much out of this testimony, but let's get it over with."

Later, Dodd snapped at Levy again: "We have got a lot of vague information here, and we haven't got one fact on this record yet that is worth a whit. If you have got some facts, give them to us. I haven't all morning to sit around here. I have got a lot of things to do."

Actually, Levy gave the committee more facts than did any other witness. It was merely that Dodd didn't like the testimony which put him on the spot with his friends at NBC. He kept the testimony under lock and key.

LEGAL LEGERDEMAIN

NBC's defense during the TV hearings was directed by the world's largest law firm -- Cahill, Gordon, Reindel and Ohl -- whose senior partner, the late John Cahill, was a director of both NBC and its parent company Radio Corporation of America.

At one point, Cahill personally appeared before Dodd's committee as the network's attorney. NBC's own general counsel, Thoms Ervin, was nudged aside to make way for the world's largest law firm. The firm had reason to be satisfied with the outcome.

It is a coincidence worth recording that this same law firm is now defending Dodd in his fight against senate censure. A task force of seven attorneys, headed by John Sonnett, has been representing Dodd.

When Dodd was asked who was paying the $3,000 a day such a legal force customarily would cost, the senator replied on a TV program: "I wanted to make the point that John Sonnett is doing this, as he presented it to me, as a public service. I couldn't afford to hire a firm such as this."

After this column pointed out the favors Dodd had done for the law firm during the TV investigation, however, the firm hastily presented Dodd with a bill for $47,167. The senator's friends reportedly are trying to scrape up the money to pay it.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Labor Chiefs Begin Humphrey Buildup For Showdown With Bob Kennedy Camp.

New York: -- One of the nation's most sophisticated political analysts inside labor turned to a companion the other day after an off-the-record hotel suite breakfast with Hubert H. Humphrey and observed:

"Tell you why the vice president is beginning to outdistance Kennedy: While Bobby is shooting the rapids, Hubert is shooting the breeze. Bobby hits the high spots, contacts us when he needs us and dispatches assistants to follow through. Humphrey makes the time to tell us what he thinks -- in person, not by remote control or messengers."

Having just crisscrossed the nation, this columnist can attest to the prevalence of the sentiment. In any showdown, virtually all of labor but Walter Reuther will do battle for the vice president. In fact, they already are.

One influential labor leader, Louis Stulberg, head of some 455,000 ladies garment workers, has just set a new fashion on the socio-political-labor scene.

On the morning of Wednesday, May 17, Stulberg cut the pattern for what he hopes will sweep industry after industry. Behind the closed doors of the Waldorf -- Astoria's Carte Blanche room, he called a labor-management summit breakfast gathering. There were 24 men -- and the vice president. It was all eggs and talk and no politics nor fund raising.

Amongst them were the men who talk for $10 billion worth of ladies garment production -- and the union men with whom they negotiate. There were Republicans, too. And the aristocracy of the industry such as Herman Seigenfeld, the couturier who is the "Tiffany" of American dress fashions.

It was breakfast at nine at Stulberg's invitation. This comparatively new national union president just does not believe that the story of Vietnam had gotten through. He does not believe that hectic and harassed businessmen and labor leaders were reading turbid reports of the Kennedy round, gold outflow, economic flow and ebb. Stulberg is for a strong policy in Southeast Asia, but Vietnam and Mr. Humphrey's report of his recent flash trips across two worlds were not the basic part of the discussion.

The vice president talked of the impact of the Kennedy round cut in tariffs and its meaning in solid dollars, purchasing power, and as a force in a world where most nations now no longer fight for real estate but for world markets -- be it in steel or cotton goods.

"Of course I'm a Humphrey and administration man," said Stulberg later. "But much more important is the fact that Hubert agreed to stay over and brief the labor-management-employer policy makers in our industry. They should know, informally, off the record, what's involved here at home as well as abroad. There should be a series of these regional-industrial summits face to face with Humphrey."

It was thus that the late John Kennedy started. But then, the "host" usually was Arthur Goldberg. Breakfast was at the Carlyle. And mostly these were labor gatherings -- not joint union-management briefings.

But somewhere along the line Robert Kennedy, not entirely unthinkingly, lost touch and rapport with the labor cadres he must have to win a national election. This is not merely a New York phenomenon. For Bob Kennedy it is a national failing.

At the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO state convention early in April, one of the federation officials charged that Kennedy opposed the war because he "wants to be president." There was applause -- for the speaker, not for Kennedy. It is so amongst labor men in Ohio, Illinois and, just a few days ago, I ran into similar sentiments in the West and Southwest. But it is more than the war which separates Bob Kennedy from the labor movement which will send some 150 delegates to the '68 Democratic convention and more probably in '72.

There are philosophical differences. To the veteran labor leaders, the senator is of the new left inside the Democratic party. And he has not cultivated the traditional union chiefs either in his home state or across the land. He does not "shirt sleeve" with them. They will fight his nomination. They will buck him if he's nominated. Though some of them are but 10 or 15 years older than he is, he has, they feel, spurned their generation. At a banquet in Washington which honored Hubert Humphrey May 8, AFL-CIO president George Meany summed it all up:

"When we have good friends, we don't go looking for new friends to replace them."

Meany, speaking at the podium which was but a few feet from a chair which had been reserved for Walter Reuther, who did not show, looked squarely at the guest of honor -- HHH.

Quaker Meetings Turning to Trained Pastors for Leaders

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Quaker meetings, traditionally dependent for their content on silent meditation and the spontaneous comments of anyone feeling moved to speak, are turning increasingly today to trained pastors for leadership.

And the unpredictable silences, out of which might emerge much discourse or hardly any, of variable worth, are giving way in many cases to planned periods of Bible readings, prayers, hymns and sometimes sermons.

"Some Quakers are moving in a direction of forms and ministry that are not much distinguished from some Baptist and Methodist churches," said Dr. Wilmer A. Cooper, dean of the Graduate School of Religion of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

But it's a controversial trend in some quarters.

"A good many Quakers rebel at it, objecting that we're becoming just like the rest of the churches," he added. "They still feel that so far as the local congregation is concerned, they want a 'do-it-yourself' kind of program."

Nevertheless, in a Christian movement which in its origins went all the way in rejecting clergy-dominated religion by completely abolishing the role, there is a growing recognition of the need of specially trained ministers.

And Earlham's graduate school, founded six years ago, is turning out men with divinity degrees to fill that need — the first Quaker institution in the 300-year history of the movement to do so.

About two-thirds of the 1,100 Quaker weekly meetings, or congregations, in this country now have either full-time or part-time leaders, who lead worship, do pastoral counseling, make calls, serve at funerals and weddings.

But they disapprove being called clergymen. "None of us like that," Dr. Cooper said in an interview. Generally they're also averse to any honorific religious titles, and to put it bluntly, "Don't call me reverend."

Among Quakers, such terms have sensitive historic connotations that imply giving up religious responsibility and rule to an ordained class.

In contrast, the key Quaker emphasis is that all believers share ministerial obligations as channels of God's truth through an "inner light" of the spirit — a charismatic factor increasingly emphasized by other churches.

As the 17th century Quaker founder, George Fox, put it: "Every man is his own priest."

There are about 122,000 Friends in this country, commonly known as Quakers, and 200,000 of the worldwide. With their stress on personal responsibility, they're noted for their keen social concern and activism.

Although the movement officially supports pacifism, it does not require it, in line with an openness to individual convictions, and many Quakers are not pacifists. Statistics indicate only about half in wartime register as conscientious objectors.

Until Earlham's graduate school got started, Quaker congregations seeking trained leadership had to depend on seminaries of other denominations or interdenominational institutions to prepare them.

And this left scant means for pointing up particular Quaker values, history and approach. The school, which has about 30 students in its three-year graduate course, is now in the midst of a $1.3 million fund-raising campaign.

It hopes to increase its enrollment to 50-to-100 students in the next two years. Courses are in Bible studies, church history, ethics, religious education, counselling — much like the general curriculum at other seminaries.

Although worship groups traditionally are called weekly meetings, they now often are termed congregations. And the "meeting house" sometimes gets dubbed a church, particularly in the West and Midwest.

Some have pulpits, stained-glass windows, use choir robes and crosses in a few places — but most are plain, with little symbolism. Even with pastors, they still usually allow open time for members to speak or give testimony.

"This is almost universal," Dr. Cooper said.

"We have to be on guard against a kind of professionalism that would endanger our emphasis on lay responsibility and the idea that every man has immediate access to God."

The congregations putting the most accent on programmed worship sometims are called "high-church Quakers", in contrast to "low-church" groups — borrowing from the common classification among Episcopalians.

FLOWERS AND Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, wife of Senator Magnuson (D., Wash.), have been long time friends. The Senator's wife, chairman of the National Spring Garden Planting Week Committee, takes an interest in nature's beauty. The national committee she heads seeks support to help make America more beautiful. Her husband, along with Representative Floyd V. Hicks (D., Wash.), have introduced a resolution in Congress to set aside the first week in October each year as "Spring Garden Planting Week."

Planting Week Resolution Introduced in Senate

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The United States Senate received a resolution Wednesday from Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D., Wash.) asking the legislative body to declare the first week of October as "National Spring Garden Planting Week." In introducing the legislation, the Senator stated that planting activities at that time of the year would "represent a big step towards the national beautification goals."

"The National beautification program is one in which each of us must play a role if it is to succeed," Senator Magnuson explained. "The seed has begun to grow and with our support will play a significant part in making our country a more attractive place to live."

Identical legislation sponsored by Senator Magnuson passed the Senate a year ago and many of the nation's governors independently proclaimed individual Spring Garden Planting Week within their state's borders. The Senator's wife, Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, headed the national committee for Spring Garden Planting a Week a year ago, and continues as chairman for 1967.

"Key ingredient in the program," Magnuson continued, "is the individual action of people in and around their own homes."

This can take the form of a "formal garden, a large bed of flowers, a small parking strip, or a window box in an apartment," Senator Magnuson continued.

"If every household in America just spent a few cents for a package of seed, or a few bulbs, the impact upon our American landscape and city scene would be beyond the capabilities of any artist to capture on canvas," the Senator pointed out.

William L. Meachem, Executive Secretary of the National Spring Garden Planting Week Committee, and its chairman, Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, are urging citizens to support the legislation currently pending in the U.S. Senate. This support can take the form of letters to Senator Magnuson, as well as their own senators, expressing interest in passage of the resolution.

CHRIST'S WAY

He stilled the winds and waves
Of Nature's unconsidered storm;
Where illness struck, He did
His miracles perform.
He raised the dead to life,
To dry a mother's tears;
He even spoke the words to calm
The madman's dreadful fears.

But when men chose the wrong
By willful thought, and sinned,
He would not interfere with man
As if he were just wind.
Men are not puppets to be moved;
They must themselves decide.
So all that He could do for me
He did - He died! Ottinger.

TWIN SISTERS

Avila college, Kansas City, Mo., has identical twin nuns on its faculty. Both Sister Helen Lucile and Sister Catherine Louis teach nursing. "We are definitely different," adds Sister Helen Lucile, "but we do look alike, and we even think alike in many ways. When we used to shop for clothes we'd say to each other, 'Stand over there so I can see how we look.'"

"I gave one of our Sisters quite a start when I met her at the airport in Los Angeles, a while ago," says Sister Catherine. "Sister Helen had seen her off in San Francisco." To save trouble they answer to either name.

They have been known to confuse even themselves. Years ago, surrounded by mirrors in a fun house, they were unable to distinguish each other from the images and bumped head-on. In a way it was symbolic of things to come: Helen Rutte, on becoming a nun, took the name Sister Catherine; her twin, Catherine, became Sister Helen.

It is wisdom to believe the heart.

FROZEN ASSETS

With frozen products we can turn the seasons upside down, for with freezing there is less change from the fresh product than with other products of preservation. Here are some points you should keep in mind so you can take full advantage of your frozen assets.

Storage temperature should be maintained at 0 degree F or below. Fluctuation to a higher temperature, even for a short period, reduces quality.

Store frozen foods so that those brought first are used first. Date package and keep an inventory.

Select food from freezer cabinets that are clean and not over-filled.

Packages should be frozen solid. If soft, crushed, or torn, or juice stained, reject them, for there may be loss of quality. Poorly packaged foods may have off flavors.

Buy only in quantities you can use in three to six months, or less.

When marketing, select frozen food last to lessen chance of thawing.

In comparing costs of frozen foods with those preserved by other methods, or fresh products, consider the convenience, quality, waste, time of preparation, cooking, and intended use.

Signs of loss of quality in frozen foods are excess frost in package, loss of bright color in frozen fruits, and vegetables, flavor or texture changes.

If your freezor stops, open the freezer door as little as possible while freezer is not operating. A fully loaded freezer will be cold enough to keep foods frozen for about two days - half full about one day.

If your freezer isn't operating after 24 hours, use dry ice in the freezer. Fifty pounds should hold food below freezing for three to four days in a 20 cubic foot freezer that is full; in half full freezer, two to three days. Never touch dry ice with bare hands. Place it on boards on top of frozen food or on shelves - never directly on the packages.

Miss Wulfers Plans Vows With Roy F. Georger

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The engagement of their daughter, Miss Mildred Anne Wulfers, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. George Wulfers, 725 Clark. She plans to marry Roy Francis Georger of Painton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Georger, also of Painton.

Miss Wulfers is a sophomore at Southeast Missouri State College, studying data processing and Georger is a senior at the college, majoring in physics. Both are employed at St. Francis hospital.

The wedding is planned for early August.

SOMETHING NEW has been added at two fishing resorts in Kentucky.

They are called fish cleaning machines and are located on the Robert Gooch resort on Reelfoot lake and Ervin Cobb's on the Kentucky lake.

The first of their kind to be located in this area, the machines clean 50 pounds of fish in five minutes.

Owned and operated by two Southeast Missourians, Louie Wolfe of Lilbourn and Lynn Thompson of Sikeston, the machines are common sights in the southern states but have been unfamiliar to anglers in this area.

THE OLD CHANNEL HOG, Louis Wolfe, has finally opened his lake for area anglers.

It is located one mile west of Lilbourn on state route D in New Madrid county.

Wolfe, whose lake opened this morning, will have one 20-acre lake operating this year after having two 20-acre lakes in operation last year.

The lake is stocked with many varieties and the person to catch the biggest today will be awarded a $10 prize plus all his fish and the day's fishing free.

I think I'll go over to a fish market and see if I can purchase a fairly large fish and see if I can be the winner. We think he's measured all the fish and are the same size. . . .How about that channel hog?

SIX TEAMS will compete for the Black River Connie Mack baseball title this summer.

Among those six is Sikeston's Potlatch team, which won the title and the district title last season.

Dexter and Puxico open league action June 5 at 8 p.m.

All regularly scheduled games will start at that time.

Double headers are schedule to start at 8 p.m. but by a mutual agreement the game may start earlier. Doubleheaders will consist of one five and one seven-inning game.

The season will run from June 5 through July 20 with the battling for the district title and the right to advance to Texas.

Andretti Makes $2,200

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — American drivers will fill the first 15 spots in the record-smashing 33-car field of the 51st 500-mile auto race May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

But they'll know some never-quit European Grand Prix drivers will be charging up from far back in the field.

Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., defending U.S. Auto Club champion, took speed honors with 168.982 miles per hour and the $2,200 top qualifying prize in 10-mile elimination runs concluded Sunday.

The only unfinished business is a protest that the car of Jochen Rindt of Austria was below the weight limit. The protest was filed by J. Marshall Robbins, owner of the car driven by Lucien Bianchi of Belgium.

The drivers from the world road racing circuit took the applause for sheer determination.

Graham Hill of London, the 1966 Indianapolis winner, will have to start in the last row but it appeared unlikely he would be in the lineup at all. He used two Lotus Fords and a garage full of engines before qualifying at the third-slowest speed of 163.317 m.p.h.

Jackie Stewart of Scotland, who had the '66 race won until his engine failed with 25 miles to go, was "bumped" from the lineup after qualifying at a too-slow 162.221. He broke a connecting rod Sunday morning in his backup Lola-Ford but got a new engine and made the field at a brisk 164.099.

Rindt, of Vienna, also had to qualify two cars before sticking in the lineup. He finaly made it in an Eagle Ford at 163.051. He was No. 2 in the Grand Prix races last year.

The protest against Rindt said his car was below the 1,300-pound limit for Speedway cars.

U.S. Auto Club officials impounded the car and said it will be weighed today.

Bianchi's car is the first alternate for the race. If Rindt's car was disqualified because of the weight, Bianchi's car would be inserted in the starting lineup.

Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., who also was stopped by engine trouble on the first qualifying weekend, was fastest qualifier of the last two sessions with a run at 165.563 Saturday in an Eagle-Ford.

Dan Gurney, international racer from Santa Ana, Calif., came out of the trials doubly happy. His qualifying speed of 167.224 was second only to Andretti's record and six of his All American Eagle cars made the lineup.

Four Lotus Fords, four Gerhardt turbocharged Offenhausers and three Gerhardt Fords were the only challengers of the Gurney vehicles. The Eagles are an American version of the Lotus.

The final field averaged 164.173 m.p.h., against the 1966 record of 160.251. It contains only five rookies, against the record low of four first-time starters in 1960.

Cards, A's Edge Closer To Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis moved to within 2½ games of the National League leading Cincinnati Reds Sunday by edging the Mets 3-2 in New York.

The A's jumped off to a 4-0 lead against the American League leading Chicago White Sox in the third, added another run in the sixth and then, barely escaped with a 5-4 victory in Kansas City. The third place A's trail the White Sox by 4½ games.

Solo home runs by Lou Brock and Roger Maris and a run that scored on a double play ball in the sixth provided the Cards with their winning margin.

Bud Harrelson singled in the Mets first run in the third and Cleon Jones homered to account for the second run in the seventh.

Ray Washburn went the distance for the Cards to record his second victory against two losses. He allowed seven hits, walked no one and struck out three. It was the fifth straight victory for the Cards.

Don Cardwell suffered his fifth loss for the Mets against two victories.

Kansas City put together six consecutive hits after two were out in the third for four runs. Rick Monday, Mike Hershberger, Dick Green, Sal Bando and Jim Gosger all singled and Danny Cater sandwiched a double in the middle of the rally.

The White Sox picked up two runs in the fourth on four hits, including Wayne Causey's double.

Phil Roof ended the A's scoring as he drove a long single to left in the sixth to score Bando who walked.

A single, triple and another single gave the White Sox their final runs in the ninth before reliever Jack Aker got Don Buford on an easy grounder for the third out.

Jim Nash pitched 8 1-3 innings before he tired, but with Aker's help received credit for his fifth victory against three losses. Nash allowed nine hits, walked one and struck out seven and he retired 15 consecutive batters from the fourth until the ninth.

It was the seventh victory for the A's in their last nine games and the fourth straight series they have won.

St. Louis is idle today, but the A's move to the West Coast where they will play the Angels tonight. Chuck Dobson is slated to pitch for Kansas City and Jim McGlothlin for the Angels.

Southeast Missourian Claims First In State

COLUMBIA -- Beaumont and Kansas City Central shared honors in the Missouri high school class L track meet Saturday by scoring 28 1/2 points to tie for top honors.

Cape Girardeau Central's Fil Blackiston threw the shot 57 feet, nine inches for second and heaved the discus 160 feet 1/2 inches for second.

The only Southeast Missourian to take a first place was Kennett's Greg Buys, who sailed the discus 171 feet, seven and one third inches. Blackiston was defending champion.

Six records were broken, including a 35-year old record in the 100-yard dash and a 27-yard dash.

Beaumont's Vern Wellington set both marks with a 9.6 time in the 100 and a 20.8 in the 220.

Other records broken were in the high jump, pole vault, 880-yard relay and mile relay.

Don Stevenson of Paseo high in Kansas City jumped 6 feet and seven inches for a high jump mark.

John Beeson of Ruskin set a pole vault record with a 14-feet, three-inch leap.

In the 880-yard relay, Beaumont bettered its record of last season by eight tenths of a second for a time of 1:28.2.

Ritenour ran a 3:20.9 mile relay for a new mark, bettering Beaumont's 1963 relay teams mark of 3:21.2.

School of Ozarks Sets Final High School Rites

POINT LOOKOUT, Mo. (AP) — Nineteen students are scheduled to receive diplomas May 28 when the last high school class is graduated from The School of the Ozarks.

The high school is being discontinued. There are 69 candidates for baccalaureate degrees.

Until two years ago the college offered junior college courses, and is now a four-year accredited school.

The School of the Ozarks was established in 1906 to meet the needs of young people in the hill country. Students pay for room, board and tuition by working in the school's 22 industries.

Ichard Tells Rifle Concern

ST. LOUIS (AP) - A congressman said Friday he is concerned that troops in Vietnam may not be getting the new M-16 automatic rifle fast enough. Rep. Richard Ichard, D-Mo., described the M-16 rifle as "one of the best weapons the American soldier has ever had."

Ichord is a member of the House Armed Services Committee which is investigating the new rifle. He said he has received complaints of frequent jamming of the M-16, adding that one of the contributing factors is lack of training.

"I doubt if it's possible to make an automatic rifle that is jam proof," the congressman said.

Legion of Merit For WAC Colonel

ARLINGTON HALL STATION, Va. -- The military career of WAC Lieutenant Col. Martha Schuchart Sachs, awarded the legion of merit on her retirement, mirrors the history of women's role in the army and the army security agency.

The agency's only WAC career specialist, she spent 21 years with the command from 1944 to 1967 with one break -- 1955 to 1957 -- when she was detailed to the WAC center at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

As a young Missouri school teacher she was one of the earliest volunteers for service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, enlisting in November 1942. She went through basic training and officer candidate school at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, and was then commissioned a third officer -- equivalent to second lieutenant -- in the WAAC.

The WAAC had been established on May 14, 1942, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the bill introduced in the Congress in 1941 by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts. In July 1943 President Roosevelt signed public law 110, establishing the Women's Army Corps as an army component. The WAC became a permanent part of the army June 12, 1948, with the signing of a law by President Harry S.Truman.

Accompanying the legion of merit presented LTC Sachs by USASA Commander Major General Charles J. Denholm is a citation which pays tribute to the WAC officer for the sense of mission and dedicated professional performance of her duties for the last 10 years of her career. It reads in part:

"Ltc. Martha Schuchart Sachs . . . distinguished herself by exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service from July 1957 to April 1967. During this period Col. Sachs served successively as Chief, Personnel Services Branch, Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, GI, Headquarters USASA; as Administrative Officer to the Deputy Post Commander, 4th USASA Field Station, Asmara, Eritrea, Ethiopia; as Chief, Administrative Services Division, Office of the Adjutant General, Headquarters, USASA; and then as Deputy Adjutant General, Headquarters USASA.

"In each of these responsible positions, Col. Sachs' inspiring leadership, professional competence and sound judgment contributed in great measure to the successful accomplishment of major military objectives. Her initiative, resourcefulness, and administrative excellence markedly improved the operation of the complex personnel services activities affecting world - wide elements of the Agency, elevated the administration functions of the 4th USASA Field Station... in statute and effectiveness and materially assisted the Headquarters, USASA, in achieving its mission.

"Through her discernment, broad knowledge, and friendly spirit of cooperation she inspired maximum effort among her associates and consistently achieved optimum results throughout the wide and diverse areas of her responsibility.

"By her professional acumen, diligent efforts, and devotion to duty, she materially enhanced the prestige of the Army and earned the highest regard of all associated with her.

"Col. Sachs' distinguished performance of duty throughout this period represents outstanding achievement in the most cherished traditions of the United States Army and reflects the utmost credit upon herself and the military service."

A native of Sikeston, Mo., Miss Schuchart attended high school in Morehouse, Mo., and in 1940 graduated from Southeast Missouri State College. She served as a teacher in Missouri public schools from 1932 to 1942.

Early in her military career, the WAC officer completed the Chemical Warfare School at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., later attending the USASA School at Ft. Denvens, Mass., and an Army Intelligence school in Germany.

During her career, Ltc. Sachs has served in the Philippines, Japan, Germany, and Africa. In addition to the legion of merit, she wears the army commendation medal for meritorious service.

As president of the Arlington County, Va., chapter of ZONTA, LTC Scahs has helped provide leadership for this international organization of executives and professional women.

Now out of uniform, Martha Schuchart Sachs lives with her husband, Abner, at 5045 North 5th St., Arlington, Va.

Elusive Bank Robber Pulls 16th Heist

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police and FBI agents call him "the Big Man."

He's better known as "the Commuter bandit," an elusive gunman who has robbed 16 Pittsburgh banks of $171,593 over the past 5½ years.

He pulled his most recent job Wednesday, melting into the rush-hour traffic with $19,700.

Who he is and what he does when he isn't sticking up banks is anyone's guess.

The most popular theory is that he lives respectably in the suburbs. When he needs a lot of money in a hurry, he holds up a bank.

Officials say the Commuter is big, between 6 feet and 6-feet-2. He is between 40 and 57, weighs 200 to 240 pounds, with a barrel chest, square shoulders, an oval, clean-shaven face, blue eyes and sandy, receding hair.

Each of his holdups has followed the same basic pattern.

He usually strikes between noon and 3:30 p.m.

He walks into a bank and asks for change - a roll of quarters, for example.

He arouses no immediate suspicion because he looks so much like any other customer.

He may wear slacks, a sport shirt open at the neck, a jacket, a cap.

Casually he pushes a note and a paper bag to the teller. It says something like: "Be quiet- be quick or your dead- — no alarm — put all $5-$10-$20 in bag and hand it to me quietly and quickly or your dead!"

He is usually armed with an automatic, believed to be .45 caliber. Only once has he fired it, squeezing off a shot at a wooden railing.

He leaves as casually as he enters, gets into a car, usually an older model and usually stolen, drives to the spot he parked his own car and disappears.

When his car engine caught fire as he was making his getaway after robbing a downtown bank on July 1, 1964, he calmly stopped in the middle of a heavily- traveled boulevard and stepped away into the sidewalk traffic.

Several police cars, including one carrying FBI agents, were only a few yards away.

Trying to track down the Commuter has been a long and frustrating grind.

"Our investigations have ranged throughout the continental United States and a few foreign countries," an FBI spokesman said.

FBI officials feel that the same man committed the 16 robberies attributed to the Commuter. City police, on the other hand, believe that several persons may have pulled the holdups.

Marriage Licenses

BLOOMFIELD - Marriage licenses issued by the recorder:

Ronald Dean Roper, Advance, and Peggy Louise Lacy, Zalma.

Edward Tillman Lee and Marillian Stafford both of Sikeston.

Gerald Connie Northington, Dudley and Jeronda Chelynn Townsend, Advance.

Edgar Bolen, and Lola Learnell Carter both of Poplar Bluff.

Lee Brewer, Bernie, and Geraldine Fowler, New Madrid.

For many year he was a confirmed bachelor, and his friends never believed he would marry. But eventually he did—and about three months afterward was complaining vehemently about married life.

"What's the trouble?" a friend asked.

"She's always getting in my way when I try to cook dinner," the ex-bachelor moaned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

May 12, 1967

Mr. C. L. Blanton, Jr., Editor
Sikeston Daily Standard
Sikeston, Missouri
Dear Charlie:

The following has been taken from a monthly letter received from Bruce Memorial, one of our suppliers. We believe it is worthy of passing along to your readers:

"All over our country people will be visiting the cemeteries on Memorial Day. Many will be visiting the graves of recently departed loved ones who have gone to rest since last Memorial Day. Many of the older graves will have no visitors because those who once cared are no longer living. But although those who rest in the older graves are no longer remembered, they once lived and loved and were loved.

Visiting the cemetery should make us realize that we, too, shall some day be as the departed ones now are, and that life's span here on earth, after all, is of short duration.

And when we're in the golden years
And memories tell our story,
It doesn't seem to matter much
If we reach fame or glory,
The things that seem to count
Before our journey ends,
Are whether we are loved
And worthy of our friends.

In any town, city or community, people are born, live and die, and the memorials in the cemeteries are a record of those who have passed on. A walk through the cemetery in the little town where we were born and grew up is like visiting old friends. As we read the names on the monuments and markers, we picture them as they were when they lived."

Very truly yours,
SIKESTON MEMORIAL PARK, INC.
Carl C. Harris
President

During World War II, many non-swimmers at the Naval Training Stations were required to take swimming lessons nightly after a full day of drilling until they became qualified swimmers.

One Southern boy was really getting nowhere, and the chief in charge of instructing him asked, "What's the matter, boy? Why can't you swim? Haven't you got any water in Kentucky?"

After a short blank stare, the recruit replied, "Yes suh, chief -- we have air, too, but I can't fly!"

CLEAN - UP CAN BEGIN IN YOUR MEDICINE CHEST!
Yes, Clean-up begins in your medicine chest. If you have outdated and unmarked prescriptions still in your medicine chest, then by all means start your Clean-up campaign there. Remember . . .don't gamble with your life! Clean-up dangerous drugs and put them out of the reach of children, who may be tempted to swallow the contents of "interesting" bottles! Be sure your Clean-up campaign concerns itself with protecting your life and the lives of others. . .start first in the medicine chest at your home!

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in the hope that I can give "B. Fuddled" confidence in her sanity. She wrote about a neighbor's poodle who used to say, "I want to go outside." When she reported this unusual happening to her friends they told her she was nuts. Well, if she is nuts then I am, too, because we have a 13-year-old rat terrier who says, "I want out."

I am not claiming that our dog talks, because she doesn't say anything except that one sentence. But she does say it very clearly and only when she wants to go out, so I believe she knows what it means. More than one guest has turned white as a sheet when he heard our dog speak. Please print this. Thanks -- NUT NUMBER TWO

Dear Ann: Tell "B. Fuddled" she is not crazy. Our dog, Heinz, (57 varieties) says, "Howdy, partner," "Vas you der, Cholly?" and "Good night all." It all started when Heinz sneezed and my husband said "Gesundheit." We almost fell over when the dog repeated after Him, "Gesundheit." We have tried to teach Heinz to say other words, but for some mysterious reason he refuses. I guess you can say we have a talking dog, too. - - COVINA, CAL.

Dear Ann Landers: What is so special about a dog that says, "I want to go outside?" Our schnauzer speaks Italian. He says, "Mamma Mia," "Grazie" and "Bella Signora." When he hears "Arrivederci Roma" on the radio he puts his head between his paws and cries. The kids have tried to teach the dog Latin, but so far no luck. We will let you know if they succeed. Print this letter if you want to, but please don't give away the name of our city. Many local people know about our dog, but we don't want our home to become a tourist attraction. Thanks. -- PROUD OF HIM

Dear Ann Landers: Tell the lady she has not flipped. Dogs CAN talk. I would not have believed it but I saw with my own eyes and heard with my own ears a dog that talked on the Johnny Carson Show. When the dog said, "I love you," Johnny laughed so hard he almost fell of his chair. -- A LATE LATE FAN

Dear Ann Landers: Tell the lady not to let them cart her off to the booby hatch. A few years ago my husband told me about a bulldog that sang Irish ditties in a bar off Clark Street in Chicago. I told my husband if he didn't stop drinking beer with rum chasers, he was going to hear some other things, like a judge saying, "Divorce granted." Well, we argued a lot over that singing dog, and finally my husband insisted that I see for myself. I hate bars but I went. Sure enough, Ann, that bulldog sat on top of the piano and harmonized with Paddy, the piano player. Their best number was "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and I must say the dog did a better job than most Irish tenors. This was several years ago but I'll bet some Chicago people still remember it. When the dog got pneumonia and died, they had to close the place. -- MRS. KLT

Dear Ann: We've all heard joked about parrots that yelled out dirty words when the minister came to call. But have you ever heard of a dog that did the same thing? Well, my husband has a warped sense of humor and he taught our boxer some terrible words. After three embarrassing experiences with company, I gave the dog to my sister who lives on a farm. Now I can relax for the first time in ten years.

PRAYER

Lord,
Let my life part of the answer be,
As down life's road I tread,
Instead of part of the problem to Thee.
Let me light others' way instead.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE
By Jack Strass L. L. D.

THE CASE OF THE SOFT-HEARTED EMPLOYEE

Marvin worked for a company that had a steady business. It was so steady, in fact, that it was almost motionless. Consequently, his boss asked him if he would agree to waive his salary until things picked up. While Marvin was quick to agree to the waiver, his own financial situation soon became as embarrassing as that of his company. And, after suffering through three months of a personal depression, he finally demanded payment of his back salary.

"But Marvin," his boss pleaded, "you agreed to waive your salary until business improved and it's still as bad as ever."

"I agreed with my heart," was Marvin's answer, "but not with my head. Since a contract isn't binding unless something is received in exchange, I'm not bound by our agreement. While I agreed to waive my salary, all you did was agree not to pay it. Obviously, I received nothing in exchange for my waiver."

When his back salary wasn't forthcoming, Marvin took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUGE, would you compel payment of Marvin's back salary?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that Marvin had, in fact, received something of value in exchange for his waiver, to wit: his boss allowed him to work for nothing. Even that, the judge pointed out, is considered good exchange.

(Based upon a 1955 Mass. Supreme Judicial Court Decision)

TODAY'S LEGAL POINTER:

When a person pays another person's bill without being asked to do so, he is considered a volunteer. As such, he cannot normally require the other person to pay him back.

lashed out with mortar barrages on American and Vietnamese posts up and down South Vietnam. About 40 miles east of Saigon a Viet Cong ambush smashed an eight-vehicle convoy Sunday morning from the U.S. 11th Armored Regiment, killing 16 of the 48 Americans, wounding 29 and knocking out four of the vehicles. Twenty-one Viet Cong bodies were found.

Although the allied cease-fire does not take effect until tonight, there was no indication of any heavy U.S. ground activity today. However, the Air Force said the air war against North Vietnam went on without letup and the usual number of raids were made.

Orders were given for no bombs to be dropped after midnight, but the Air Force said reconnaissance planes would remain over North Vietnam throughout the 24-hour truce period.

said.

Relating the lackadasical attitude of some Christians today, the Rev. Mr. Wagner said, "More and more are we like bird dogs -- pointers and setters. We meet in little groups and point out our problems and then keep on settin."

"It is highly significant that when Jesus put the responsibility of changing the world on the shoulders of the Christians, He promised them all the power they would ever need at a price but it would be there. And the only thing that has delayed the coming of the Kingdom for so many centuries is the reluctance to pay this price. Man needs to let his pride go and let God's grace win," he said.

Christianity is a proclamation that we are always in debt for this secret, and that service to our brethern is our privilege and opportunity to show our gratitude, the Reverend continued.

He then related a story about a man walking home one night through rainy weather in a slum district. The man heard the wimpering crys of a small child, who was wet, cold and hungry.

It seemed as though in that moment, that child represented all the children of the world -- the hungry, the grimy, the tear - stained. He thought, even this little child, multiplied by the love of Christ, may be transformed into a magnificent and radiant child of God, the Reverend continued.

"We are the agents for what God would do for the world using the secret in our hand," he concluded.

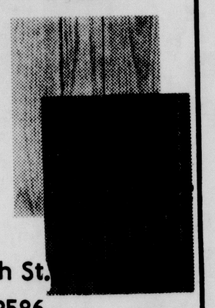

You have the joy
Of this assurance --
The heavenly Father
Will always answer prayer,
And he knows --
Yes,
He knows --
Just How much
You can bear.

Speaker Challenges Class To Use Gift of Education

"All things are yours -- the world or life or death or the present or the future -- all are yours."

The Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, pastor of the First Methodist church, quoted St. Paul's words in his baccalaureate address Sunday evening to the 270 graduating seniors. The service was held at the band shell on the high school campus.

Parents and friends numbering about 400 attended the ceremony.

The Rev. James H. Trimble, pastor of the East Side Church of the Nazarene, called the group to worship and gave the invocation.

The senior boys quartet sang "You'll Never Walk Alone." Pianist Becky Wagener accompanied Rudy Manley, Roger Tolliver, Rick Fakes and Benny Eason.

The Rev. Mr. Wagner then delivered the sermon, "The Secret in Your Hand."

Urging the graduates not to neglect their gift of education, the Rev. Mr. Wagner, told of a neuro - surgeon who is achieving the epitome of success in his field in the United States, while the doctor's father lives in a filthy village in a grass hut, has four wives, can neither read nor write and can remember having eaten human flesh as a child.

"This is the power of education. It is what has happened in a single generation of this one family when one member used at least one of the gifts he has," the Rev. Mr. Wagner said.

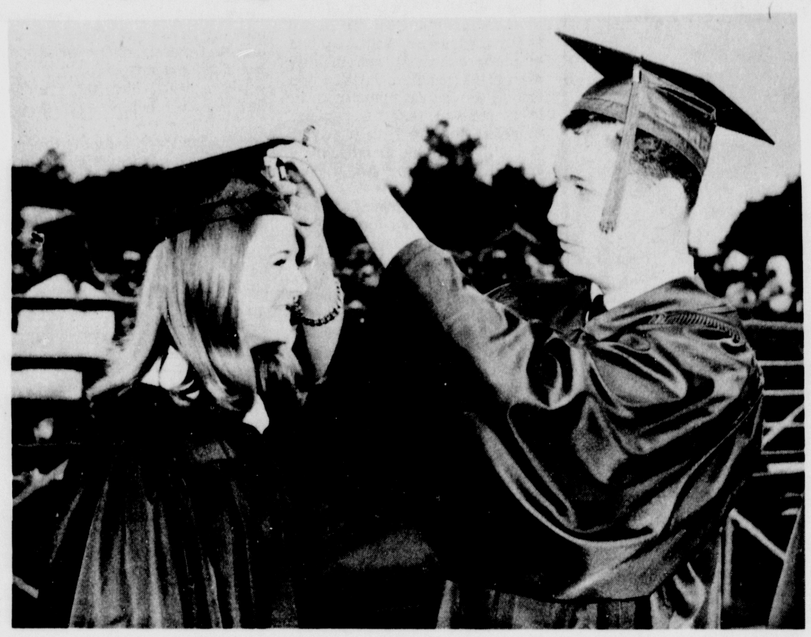

Speaking of the power of the "Holy Spirit", the Rev. Mr. Wagner continued, that down through the ages this secret in man's hand has filled him with wonder and awe.

But much of the feeling of greatness - of wonder -- of awe has been lost, he said. Even a lot of church services are completely void of the thrill of expectancy that comes when one feels the power of the Almighty upon him, he continued.

"I would have you accept this secret which holds for you the marvel of the church. That which began at Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit came upon it, was the church of greatness, filled with tremendous power. The Romans wanted to rid the world of it. The Nazi state tried to stamp it out. Russia has put its full power against it. That it should have existed at all is a marvel.

"Its history bears testimony to something eternal in it. And that secret is yours," he

Hundreds View Low Rent Housing at Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD - Several hundred turned out yesterday afternoon for the open house of the low rent city housing project.

Some of the 46 units have been furnished so that visitors could see how the homes would look when occupied.

Kitchens of the units are furnished with stoves and refrigerators, and units for the elderly are equipped with seating facilities in shower stalls.

The complex has been landscaped and has paved streets and driveways.

Total cost of the project was $566,357, which was lent to the Bloomfield Housing Authority by the federal government. A community center with a community room, kitchen, maintenance room and the housing authority office is in the center of the housing project.

Ralph Boyer Construction Company of Sikeston was the contractor.

Application are now being taken from persons who want to live in the project. Elmer Aslin is the housing authority director.

UNLIKE MANY HOUSING PROJECTS, Bloomfield low-rent homes vary in appearance. No two homes are alike. Ralph Boyer Construction Company of Sikeston was the contractor. Cost of the project was $566,357.

Planes Ignore Truce

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON AP -- U. S. planes ignored the Communist cease-fire for Buddha's birthday today and raided Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. Pilots reported shooting down one MIG jet.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the planes subjected northern and southern sections of Hanoi "to massive bombings." The U. S. Air Force did not say what targets were attacked.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported from Hanoi that the North Vietnamese capital was without electricity and water following Sunday's U.S. air raid on a power plant. Most of the plant was damaged, CTK added.

The Communists ushered in their two - day cease-fire with a dozen heavy mortar attacks before the deadline and a later attack on a U.S. force killed 15 Americans and wounded 71.

The Communists also blew the tracks from beneath a South Vietnamese military train nearly three hours after their 48-hour cease-fire was to have become effective at 7 a.m. Saigon time, or 7 p.m. EDT Sunday.

South Vietnamese and allied forces had said they would not begin their 24-hour truce for Buddha's birthday until one minute after midnight tonight, or 12:01 p.m. EDT today. The Communists caught a unit of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division as it was moving out on a sweep mission in the central highlands 33 miles southwest of Pleiku and at 7:02 a.m. opened up with intense mortar and rocket grenade fire.

U.S. headquarters said the American infantry battled an estimated Red battalion of perhaps 500 men for four hours. Thirty-two of the enemy were reported killed.

Under the generally understood ground rules for cease-fires in Vietnam, the Reds could have considered the U.S. sweep as an offensive action and their attack as self-defense.

After hard fighting Sunday just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. military headquarters said no contacts were reported today along the Ben Hai River line in the zone where U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were consolidating their positions.

About 1,000 Marines overran Communist positions Sunday near the Leatherneck outpost at Con Thien. A U.S. spokesman said 36 North Vietnamese solabd 59 Marines were wounded.

In the 12 hours before the Red cease-fire, the Communists

Seven Hurt in Rear End Crash

Seven were injured in a two-car collision at 8 p.m., 12 miles south of Sikeston on highway 61.

A 1962 Buick, driven by James Fort, 22, St. Louis, slowed to make a right turn when he was struck in the rear by a 1963 Cadillac, driven by Wilburn Garner, 44, Sikeston. Garner was given a summons by the state patrol for careless and imprudent driving too close behind a vehicle.

Five in the Fort car received minor injuries. They were treated and released from the Missouri Delta Community hospital. They were Edna Davis, 19, Charleston, S.C., Mattie Fort, 21, and Stella Richardson, 23, both of St. Louis, Annie Fort, 40 and Sarah Fort, 20, both of Benton.

Injured in the Garner car were Essie Garner, 74, Sikeston, cuts on face and chest injuries, and Beulah Garner, Sikeston, minor injuries.

Saturday at 4 p.m. on route Y, three miles west of Sikeston, three were injured when a 1962 Chevrolet pickup truck collided with a 1959 Cadillac.

The Cadillac was driven by Isaac Brown, 21, Marion, Ind. Injured in the car were Frank Brown, 24, route one, Benton, elbow and hand bruises; Geneva Baker, 30, Marion., bruised knee, and her five-month old daughter, Seretha Baker, cuts on the forehead.

Russell Jones, 44, route one, Sikeston, driver of the truck was arrested on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Sunday at 2:15 p.m. on highway 102, five miles southeast of East Prairie, a 1966 Chevrolet driven by Ronald Ray, 23, East Prairie, stopped for a left turn and a 1964 Pontiac, driven by Joseph Bishop, 71, Sikeston, and a 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Robert Williams, 23, Charleston, went into a ditch to avoid a collision.

No one was injured.

AN UNIDENTIFIED non-flying object believed to be an owl, was found in a garage at the Tom Taylor residence, 314 Franklin. Taylor holds the bird, whose wings have been clipped.

Monkey Faced Owl Found

Police departments and newspapers are noted for receiving unusual reports.

Honors over the weekend went to the police department.

The caller reported that a strange bird with the face of a monkey and feet like a chicken was found in his garage.

Police checked the call and reported that Tom Taylor, 314 Franklin, had found an owl with its wings clipped. Taylor is looking for the owner. The bird hasn't eaten anything since it was found.

Taylor first saw the strange-looking bird at about 5 p.m. Thursday. He parked his car in the garage and saw it perched on a piece of plywood.

"At first I thought it was a toy, or stuffed animal," Taylor said.

"Some of the neighbor kids have a few stuffed birds."

He noticed the bird's head and eyes were following him as he passed it in the garage.

"Wait a minute!" Taylor thought to himself.

He then went in his house, put on a pair of gloves and returned to the garage. He caught the bird and put it in a small cage.

The bird is gentle and has soft downy feathers. It is a light brown color with black speckles.

Taylor said his wife reviewed bird pictures in the public library Friday, but could find nothing like it. He believes it is a foreign bird.

When excited the bird makes a noise similiar to the hiss of natural gas escaping from a valve. It seems to perceive the color red and becomes excited when it is near him.

How the bird got in the garage is anybody's guess. It must be somebody's pet.

Garrison Says CIA Covering up

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison says Lee Harvey Oswald did not kill President John F. Kennedy and that the CIA knows who did.

"Purely and simply it's a case of former employes of the CIA, a large number of them Cubans -- having a venomous reaction from the 1961 Bay of Pigs episode . . .certain individuals with a fusion of interests in regaining Cuba assassinated the president," Garrison says.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Central Intelligence Agency said the organization would have no comment on Garrison's remarks, made Sunday night in a 23-minute interview with newsmen Bob Jones on WWL-TV.

Garrison said the CIA knows "the name of every man involved and the name of the individuals who pulled the triggers" to kill John F. Kennedy.

He says the CIA has "infinitely more power than the Gestapo and the NKVD of Russia combined." He referred to police organizations of Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union.

Garrison said it would take "only 60 minutes for the CIA to give us the name of every last Cuban involved in this and that's how close we have been to the end for sometime, but we are blocked by this glass wall of this totalitarian, powerful agency which is worried about its power."

He repeatedly charged the CIA with blocking and attempting to block his investigation, begun last fall, and "as a result I think that in closing out the case the final details of evidence that we want will take us much longer, but we're not going to compromise. We're not going to quit. We're going to get them anyway."

At another point, Garrison said: "I don't believe they can stop us. They can just delay us."

He charged the CIA "through devious ways and through intermediaries is actually paying lawyers to block the completion of the investigation. What it's doing, is a criminal act. And if the director of the CIA and the top officials of the CIA were in the jurisdiction of Louisiana I would charge them without hesitation."

The district attorney told Jones he had located photographs "in which we have found the men behind the grassy knoll and stone wall before they dropped completely out of sight. There were five of them not distinct enough you can make an identification from the faces."

"The point is," Garrison continued, "the Warren Commission said nobody was back there and they had to say nobody was back there because not enough evidence was presented for them to make any other conclusion."

The commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, concluded that Oswald shot Kennedy and said it could find no evidence of any conspiracy.

Oswald was not a CIA agent, said Garrison, "but he was an employe of the Central Intelligence Agency as were the anti-Castro Cubans with whom he associated." The Warren Commission pictured Oswald as a pro-Communist.

"The point is he not only was not a Communist, but he was an anti - Communist who was working for the CIA," Garrison told Jones. "One this tragedy occurred, the CIA's attitude seemed to have been, 'Well, President Kennedy is a casualty of the cold war. And, as to this kid - Oswald ,-- that's just one of those things. The cold war must go on. The cover must be kept."

In another development Sunday, Gordon Novel, one of the witnesses Garrison is trying to return to Louisiana, reportedly was wounded superficially by sniper fire at Nashville, Tenn.

A radio station official told police of the shooting incident.

Baby Burned By Skillet

DEXTER -- Paula Rene, 16-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Don Griffey, sustained first and second degree burns when she pulled an electric skillet off a stove at her home Sunday afternoon.

She was taken to Doctors hospital in Poplar Bluff.

16 Treated For Injuries

Sixteen persons were treated in the Missouri Delta Community hospital emergency room Saturday and Sunday. Eleven were involved in car accidents.

Illness Proves Fatal for Police Judge Schrader

Edwin Raymond "Bud" Schrader, 56, city police judge seven years, died at 2:15 p.m. Saturday in the Missouri Delta Community hospital, where he was admitted May 4.

He had been in ill health more than a year, and had a throat operation last year.

He was a commission agent for the Continental Oil Company.

Schrader, was born in Cape Girardeau, Feb. 25, 1911, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schrader. He married Elizabeth Mollenhour of Jackson Nov. 10, 1935. The family moved to Sikeston in 1936.

He became interested in Little League baseball and was one of the first backers of the Little League and Babe Ruth League. He received an award for his work in youth activities last year.

He was elected city judge April 8, 1960. After the government was changed to the city manager form he was appointed to the office Feb. 27, 1961, and had served since. He was a member of Concordia Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Eddie Schrader; two grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Anna Schrader; two brothers, Charles Schrader and Harlan Schrader, both of Cape Girardeau; and one sister, Mrs. Walter Isaac.

Services were today at 2 p.m. in the Lutheran church, with the Rev. Harold Belsheim pastor, officiating.

Burial was in the Garden of Memories cemetery, with Nunnelee Funeral Home in charge.

Pallbearers were V. L. Kirby, Chief of Police Arthur Bruce, Billy Walker, Wayne Baker, Truman Limbaugh and W. L. George.

Vehicle Checking Plugged

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Will W. Davis predicted today a motor vehicle safety inspection bill will pass the Missouri Legislature and promised that politics would have nothing to do with its administration.

Davis is Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' press secretary and spoke in his behalf. He made the comments in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Missouri Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association, Inc.

Under the motor vehicle inspection law, which Davis said is expected to be reported favorably by a House committee, inspection stations would be designated by the Highway Patrol.

"...I might emphasize," he said, "that this inspection program is strictly nonpolitical — no endorsements or good words from anyone along the rungs of the political heirarchy will be needed to be chosen as an official inspection station."

Motorists will pay $2.50 for the annual inspections of brakes, lights, signals, horns, windshield wipers, tires and so on. Of this amount, 50 cents will go to the highway patrol to finance the program.

Davis said the Governor is in Little Rock, Ark., today conferring with Gov. Wintrhrop Rockefeller about the possibility of a toll turnpike south from Kansas City to Arkansas and New Orleans.

He said the new turnpike authority created by a bill signed last week is seeking ways to get a feasibility study under way even before the new law becomes effective Oct. 13.

The authority is composed of the Governor and the six-member Highway Commission. Outside engineering consultants will be hired for the feasibility studies.

Davis noted that other possibilities that have been discussed include toll roads from Kansas City to the Hannibal area toward Chicago and from the center of the state to the Southeastern Missouri Bootheel area.

"From this vantage point in its development," he said, "the prospects are not only limitless, the benefits of these new pay-as-you-go roads are so great, that I am sure no one would wish to make too many predictions as to the tremendous implications contained in the legislation that launched us into this new concept of roads, their financing and their enhanced value to every Missourian regardless of his purpose of travel."

Optimists Will Organize Boys Baseball League

A citywide baseball league for boys, nine through 14 who are not on a team, is being formed by the Optimist club, according to an announcement at the club's meeting this morning in the Rustic Rock Inn.

A committee was appointed by President John Harper to arrange a schedule for the opening games June 8. Don Baker is chairman, Claude Benney, Jerry Callow, Pete Barnes and W. L. Clayton are members.

The group will have charge of transporting boys and meet with boys for team placement.

A second committee will oversee the program, appoint officials and provide equipment. It is composed of Sam Harbin, Don Baker, Joe Barnes, Glenn Greene and Bill Kiefer.

The program will be under the Community Action Agency, directed by Bill Paylor.

Guests at the meeting were Estes Caldwell, Truman Statler, Arnold Strickert, Jim Jones and Harold James, all of the Jackson Optimist club.

Charge Filed After Seizure Of Still

CHARLESTON - Eddie Moss, 73, who was placed in the Mississippi county jail, following the seizure of a still in operation on a farm on which he was employed, has been charged with a misdemeanor.

The charge is for possession, manufacturing distilled and blend intoxicating liquor, without a procurement license from the liquor supervisor. It has been filed in magistrate court.

The home made still with its contents were seized early Friday morning by Sheriff W.J. Simmons.

Speaker Challenges Class To Use Gift of Education

"All things are yours -- the world or life or death or the present or the future -- all are yours."

The Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, pastor of the First Methodist church, quoted St. Paul's words in his baccalaureate address Sunday evening to the 270 graduating seniors. The service was held at the band shell on the high school campus.

Parents and friends numbering about 400 attended the ceremony.

The Rev. James H. Trimble, pastor of the East Side Church of the Nazarene, called the group to worship and gave the invocation.

The senior boys quartet sang "You'll Never Walk Alone." Pianist Becky Wagener accompanied Rudy Manley, Roger Tolliver, Rick Fakes and Benny Eason.

The Rev. Mr. Wagner then delivered the sermon, "The Secret in Your Hand."

Urging the graduates not to neglect their gift of education, the Rev. Mr. Wagner, told of a neuro - surgeon who is achieving the epitome of success in his field in the United States, while the doctor's father lives in a filthy village in a grass hut, has four wives, can neither read nor write and can remember having eaten human flesh as a child.

"This is the power of education. It is what has happened in a single generation of this one family when one member used at least one of the gifts he has," the Rev. Mr. Wagner said.

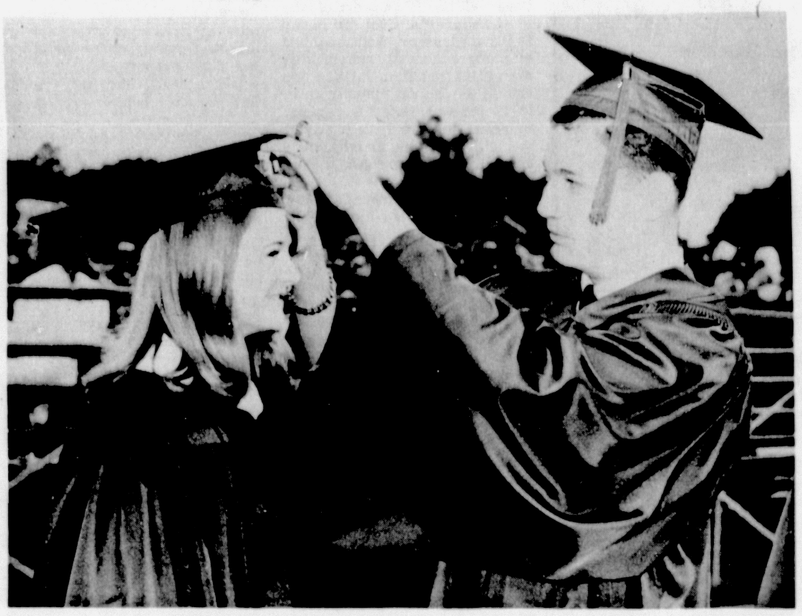

Speaking of the power of the "Holy Spirit", the Rev. Mr. Wagner continued, that down through the ages this secret in man's hand has filled him with wonder and awe.

But much of the feeling of greatness - of wonder -- of awe has been lost, he said. Even a lot of church services are completely void of the thrill of expectancy that comes when one feels the power of the Almighty upon him, he continued.

"I would have you accept this secret which holds for you the marvel of the church. That which began at Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit came upon it, was the church of greatness, filled with tremendous power. The Romans wanted to rid the world of it. The Nazi state tried to stamp it out. Russia has put its full power against it. That it should have existed at all is a marvel.

"Its history bears testimony to something eternal in it. And that secret is yours," he

Hundreds View Low Rent Housing at Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD - Several hundred turned out yesterday afternoon for the open house of the low rent city housing project.

Some of the 46 units have been furnished so that visitors could see how the homes would look when occupied.

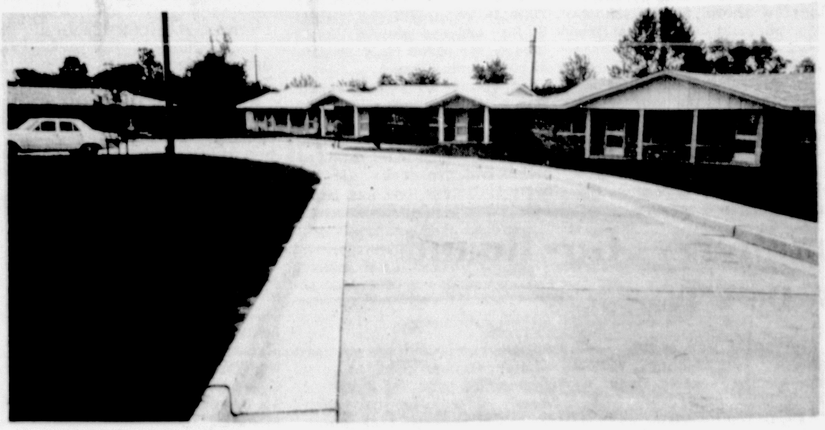

Kitchens of the units are furnished with stoves and refrigerators, and units for the elderly are equipped with seating facilities in shower stalls.

The complex has been landscaped and has paved streets and driveways.

Total cost of the project was $566,357, which was lent to the Bloomfield Housing Authority by the federal government. A community center with a community room, kitchen, maintenance room and the housing authority office is in the center of the housing project.

Ralph Boyer Construction Company of Sikeston was the contractor.

Application are now being taken from persons who want to live in the project. Elmer Aslin is the housing authority director.

UNLIKE MANY HOUSING PROJECTS, Bloomfield low-rent homes vary in appearance. No two homes are alike. Ralph Boyer Construction Company of Sikeston was the contractor. Cost of the project was $566,357.

Police Assist Woman Struck With Hammer

Sikeston police received a report calling for assistance to a woman who had been struck on the head with a hammer early Sunday morning.

Police reported that Rebecca Green, 42, identified as a Negro woman who resides on Compress Road, said her husband, Jim Henry Green, struck her on the head with a hammer early Sunday morning while she was in bed. She was treated and released at Missouri Delta Community hospital Sunday.

Sikeston police arrested Eddie W. Taylor, route one, and two juveniles, in connection with the theft of two six-volt batteries taken from a tractor on the Terry Dame farm, route one, Bell City.

The juveniles were turned over to the custody of juvenile officer Bob Summers. Taylor was transferred to Stoddard county authorities. He is charged with larceny, Sheriff Ralph Temples said today.

One of the juveniles is from Sikeston, the other is from Bell City, the sheriff said.

Fourteen persons were issued summons by police charging them with speeding Saturday on Murray Lane.

Planes Ignore Truce

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON AP -- U. S. planes ignored the Communist cease-fire for Buddha's birthday today and raided Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. Pilots reported shooting down one MIG jet.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the planes subjected northern and southern sections of Hanoi "to massive bombings." The U. S. Air Force did not say what targets were attacked.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported from Hanoi that the North Vietnamese capital was without electricity and water following Sunday's U.S. air raid on a power plant. Most of the plant was damaged, CTK added.

The Communists ushered in their two - day cease-fire with a dozen heavy mortar attacks before the deadline and a later attack on a U.S. force killed 15 Americans and wounded 71.

The Communists also blew the tracks from beneath a South Vietnamese military train nearly three hours after their 48-hour cease-fire was to have become effective at 7 a.m. Saigon time, or 7 p.m. EDT Sunday.

South Vietnamese and allied forces had said they would not begin their 24-hour truce for Buddha's birthday until one minute after midnight tonight, or 12:01 p.m. EDT today. The Communists caught a unit of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division as it was moving out on a sweep mission in the central highlands 33 miles southwest of Pleiku and at 7:02 a.m. opened up with intense mortar and rocket grenade fire.

U.S. headquarters said the American infantry battled an estimated Red battalion of perhaps 500 men for four hours. Thirty-two of the enemy were reported killed.

Under the generally understood ground rules for cease-fires in Vietnam, the Reds could have considered the U.S. sweep as an offensive action and their attack as self-defense.

After hard fighting Sunday just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. military headquarters said no contacts were reported today along the Ben Hai River line in the zone where U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were consolidating their positions.

About 1,000 Marines overran Communist positions Sunday near the Leatherneck outpost at Con Thien. A U.S. spokesman said 36 North Vietnamese soldabd 59 Marines were wounded.

In the 12 hours before the Red cease-fire, the Communists

Seven Hurt in Rear End Crash

Seven were injured in a two-car collision at 8 p.m., 12 miles south of Sikeston on highway 61.

A 1962 Buick, driven by James Fort, 22, St. Louis, slowed to make a right turn when he was struck in the rear by a 1963 Cadillac, driven by Wilburn Garner, 44, Sikeston. Garner was given a summons by the state patrol for careless and imprudent driving too close behind a vehicle.

Five in the Fort car received minor injuries. They were treated and released from the Missouri Delta Community hospital. They were Edna Davis, 19, Charleston, S.C., Mattie Fort, 21, and Stella Richardson, 23, both of St. Louis, Annie Fort, 40 and Sarah Fort, 20, both of Benton.

Injured in the Garner car were Essie Garner, 74, Sikeston, cuts on face and chest injuries, and Beulah Garner, Sikeston, minor injuries.

Saturday at 4 p.m. on route Y, three miles west of Sikeston, three were injured when a 1962 Chevrolet pickup truck collided with a 1959 Cadillac.

The Cadillac was driven by Isaac Brown, 21, Marion, Ind. Injured in the car were Frank Brown, 24, route one, Benton, elbow and hand bruises; Geneva Baker, 30, Marion., bruised knee, and her five-month old daughter, Seretha Baker, cuts on the forehead.

Russell Jones, 44, route one, Sikeston, driver of the truck was arrested on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Sunday at 2:15 p.m. on highway 102, five miles southeast of East Prairie, a 1966 Chevrolet driven by Ronald Ray, 23, East Prairie, stopped for a left turn and a 1964 Pontiac, driven by Joseph Bishop, 71, Sikeston, and a 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Robert Williams, 23, Charleston, went into a ditch to avoid a collision.

No one was injured.

AN UNIDENTIFIED non-flying object believed to be an owl, was found in a garage at the Tom Taylor residence, 314 Franklin. Taylor holds the bird, whose wings have been clipped.

Monkey Faced Owl Found

Police departments and newspapers are noted for receiving unusual reports.

Honors over the weekend went to the police department.

The caller reported that a strange bird with the face of a monkey and feet like a chicken was found in his garage.

Police checked the call and reported that Tom Taylor, 314 Franklin, had found an owl with its wings clipped. Taylor is looking for the owner. The bird hasn't eaten anything since it was found.

Taylor first saw the strange-looking bird at about 5 p.m. Thursday. He parked his car in the garage and saw it perched on a piece of plywood.

"At first I thought it was a toy, or stuffed animal," Taylor said.

"Some of the neighbor kids have a few stuffed birds."

He noticed the bird's head and eyes were following him as he passed it in the garage.

"Wait a minute!" Taylor thought to himself.

He then went in his house, put on a pair of gloves and returned to the garage. He caught the bird and put it in a small cage.

The bird is gentle and has soft downy feathers. It is a light brown color with black speckles.

Taylor said his wife reviewed bird pictures in the public library Friday, but could find nothing like it. He believes it is a foreign bird.

When excited the bird makes a noise similiar to the hiss of natural gas escaping from a valve. It seems to perceive the color red and becomes excited when it is near him.

How the bird got in the garage is anybody's guess. It must be somebody's pet.

Garrison Says CIA Covering up

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison says Lee Harvey Oswald did not kill President John F. Kennedy and that the CIA knows who did.

"Purely and simply it's a case of former employes of the CIA, a large number of them Cubans -- having a venomous reaction from the 1961 Bay of Pigs episode . . .certain individuals with a fusion of interests in regaining Cuba assassinated the president," Garrison says.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Central Intelligence Agency said the organization would have no comment on Garrison's remarks, made Sunday night in a 23-minute interview with newsmen Bob Jones on WWL-TV.

Garrison said the CIA knows "the name of every man involved and the name of the individuals who pulled the triggers" to kill John F. Kennedy.

He says the CIA has "infinitely more power than the Gestapo and the NKVD of Russia combined." He referred to police organizations of Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union.

Garrison said it would take "only 60 minutes for the CIA to give us the name of every last Cuban involved in this and that's how close we have been to the end for sometime, but we are blocked by this glass wall of this totalitarian, powerful agency which is worried about its power."

He repeatedly charged the CIA with blocking and attempting to block his investigation, begun last fall, and "as a result I think that in closing out the case the final details of evidence that we want will take us much longer, but we're not going to compromise. We're not going to quit. We're going to get them anyway."

At another point, Garrison said: "I don't believe they can stop us. They can just delay us."

He charged the CIA "through devious ways and through intermediaries is actually paying lawyers to block the completion of the investigation. What it's doing, is a criminal act. And if the director of the CIA and the top officials of the CIA were in the jurisdiction of Louisiana I would charge them without hesitation."

The district attorney told Jones he had located photographs "in which we have found the men behind the grassy knoll and stone wall before they dropped completely out of sight. There were five of them not distinct enough you can make an identification from the faces."

"The point is," Garrison continued, "the Warren Commission said nobody was back there and they had to say nobody was back there because not enough evidence was presented for them to make any other conclusion."

The commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, concluded that Oswald shot Kennedy and said it could find no evidence of any conspiracy.

Oswald was not a CIA agent, said Garrison, "but he was an employe of the Central Intelligence Agency as were the anti-Castro Cubans with whom he associated." The Warren Commission pictured Oswald as a pro-Communist.

"The point is he not only was not a Communist, but he was an anti - Communist who was working for the CIA," Garrison told Jones. "One this tragedy occurred, the CIA's attitude seemed to have been, 'Well, President Kennedy is a casualty of the cold war. And, as to this kid - Oswald ,-- that's just one of those things. The cold war must go on. The cover must be kept."

In another development Sunday, Gordon Novel, one of the witnesses Garrison is trying to return to Louisiana, reportedly was wounded superficially by sniper fire at Nashville, Tenn.

A radio station official told police of the shooting incident.

Baby Burned By Skillet

Treated Sunday were Carl Matheny, East Prairie, motorcycle accident; Joseph Bishop, car accident; Deborah A. Patterson, Bell City, injured elbow while skating; Hiram G. Gillian, Canalou, fell over tree stump.

Illness Proves Fatal for Police Judge Schrader

Edwin Raymond "Bud" Schrader, 56, city police judge seven years, died at 2:15 p.m. Saturday in the Missouri Delta Community hospital, where he was admitted May 4.

He had been in ill health more than a year, and had a throat operation last year.

He was a commission agent for the Continental Oil Company.

Schrader, was born in Cape Girardeau, Feb. 25, 1911, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schrader. He married Elizabeth Mollenhour of Jackson Nov. 10, 1935. The family moved to Sikeston in 1936.

He became interested in Little League baseball and was one of the first backers of the Little League and Babe Ruth League. He received an award for his work in youth activities last year.

He was elected city judge April 8, 1960. After the government was changed to the city manager form he was appointed to the office Feb. 27, 1961, and had served since. He was a member of Concordia Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Eddie Schrader; two grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Anna Schrader; two brothers, Charles Schrader and Harlan Schrader, both of Cape Girardeau; and one sister, Mrs. Walter Isaac.

Services were today at 2 p.m. in the Lutheran church, with the Rev. Harold Belsheim pastor, officiating.

Burial was in the Garden of Memories cemetery, with Nunnelee Funeral Home in charge.

Pallbearers were V. L. Kirby, Chief of Police Arthur Bruce, Billy Walker, Wayne Baker, Truman Limbaugh and W. L. George.

Vehicle Checking Plugged

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Will W. Davis predicted today a motor vehicle safety inspection bill will pass the Missouri Legislature and promised that politics would have nothing to do with its administration.

Davis is Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' press secretary and spoke in his behalf. He made the comments in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Missouri Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association, Inc.

Under the motor vehicle inspection law, which Davis said is expected to be reported favorably by a House committee, inspection stations would be designated by the Highway Patrol.

"...I might emphasize," he said, "that this inspection program is strictly nonpolitical — no endorsements or good words from anyone along the rungs of the political heirarchy will be needed to be chosen as an official inspection station."

Motorists will pay $2.50 for the annual inspections of brakes, lights, signals, horns, windshield wipers, tires and so on. Of this amount, 50 cents will go to the highway patrol to finance the program.

Davis said the Governor is in Little Rock, Ark., today conferring with Gov. Wintrhrop Rockefeller about the possibility of a toll turnpike south from Kansas City to Arkansas and New Orleans.

He said the new turnpike authority created by a bill signed last week is seeking ways to get a feasibility study under way even before the new law becomes effective Oct. 13.

The authority is composed of the Governor and the six-member Highway Commission. Outside engineering consultants will be hired for the feasibility studies.

Davis noted that other possibilities that have been discussed include toll roads from Kansas City to the Hannibal area toward Chicago and from the center of the state to the Southeastern Missouri Bootheel area.

"From this vantage point in its development," he said, "the prospects are not only limitless, the benefits of these new pay-as-you-go roads are so great, that I am sure no one would wish to make too many predictions as to the tremendous implications contained in the legislation that launched us into this new concept of roads, their financing and their enhanced value to every Missourian regardless of his purpose of travel."

Change is an essential ingredient in modern life.

It has come at a fast pace during the lives of all of today's inhabitants of the earth.

The Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, formerly the pride of the British Atlantic fleet, are going into moth balls. The big ships are too expensive to operate and can't compete with swift jet air travel between the United States and Europe.

Down in this part of the nation, the announcement that the Hotel Cairo is going to be demolished evokes mixed feelings.

The hotel was once the finest between St. Louis and Memphis.

Less than a decade ago it gave travelers from the North a gracious introduction to the South.

Motorists came into Cairo with the first sight of mistletoe growing in tree tops. At the Cairo Hotel the visitor could buy country ham and redeye gravy served plantation style.

The traveler was in a different world when he reached Cairo. Once crossing the Ohio river, he knew that he was in the South but Cairo was the gateway.

It is futile to grieve about the passing of the era, which made the Cairo hotel obsolete. In many respects it is better that the old structure will be torn down rather than stand sadly as the ghostly sentinel of another day.

The absence of the hotel and changing highway travel habits will present a tremendous opportunity to Southeast Missouri.

Residents of North Central states usually travel through Illinois and Cairo on their way to both the Mid-South and the Southeast. When Interstate 55 is completed from St. Louis to Memphis, much of this travel may be expected to come over this more direct route to the South.

St. Louis, once difficult and slow to travel through, can be speedily traversed by multiple lane expressways feeding into the Interstate.

No longer will be desirable to avoid it and travel out of the way in order to do so. Slow, curvy and hilly Missouri roads will be eliminated.

Southeast Missouri will be more attractive to travelers if it develops its own recreational areas, gives its visitors attractive quarters for overnight lodging and can provide good food in clean, comfortable, cheerful surroundings - all at reasonable cost.

Perhaps our own hospitality can match or even improve on that of the Hotel Cairo dining room in its opulent heyday.

Every Southeast Missouri citizen can help create the climate which will make this region attractive to visitors, an effort that could prove to be as profitable as it is pleasant for all residents of this region.

Several states have discovered "treasure chests" riding at the front and rear of automobiles - license plates.

They issue "personalized" plates, and drivers pay extra money for them. In Connecticut, for example, drivers pay $10 extra for a pair of them and have swelled the state treasury by $540,000 since 1937.

Among the states issuing personalized plates, which has led to a national word game, are Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Texas, Ohio and Oregon.

In Texas, where personalized plates are covered with a reflective material that converts them into "safety" tags that brilliantly reflect the headlights of other cars, the ideas for auto tags, as one might expect, come large and tall in the best traditions of the state.

Although not the caped crusader of TV fame, one Texan has plates that read BATMAN. Another Texan's car carries "royal flush" plates - AKQJ10.

There's an 007 in Ohio and a BAM 007 in Oregon.

The special plates often lead to humorous results. In Connecticut, there's a DAFT, FUN, I.Q., GIN, and even a BURP and an OOPS.

The I.Q. tags belong to insurance broker Hugh Jeffries of Simsbury, who has an IQ of 140-plus. In a similar way, other plates tend to identify or classify motorists and their interests. Here are some examples.

--Jeanne and Felix Klock, who head the Klock Corporation, have TICK and TOCK plates for the two family cars.

-- In Hartford, nuns from St. Joseph's Convent drive around town in a station wagon labeled DEUS, and cause a few smiles because it is the Greek word for God.

--Alexander DiFronzo, who is conductor of the 79th Army Band, is the owner of BAND tags.

--The owner of GIN, Miss Juliett Higgins, is going out of the restaurant business but into the liquor business.

--Veterans of the Army and the Navy are the owners of, respectively, as you might imagine, ARMY and NAVY plates.

Other Connecticut plates, without explanations for their choice, are AHOY, BANG, BOO, BLAH, CHIC, DOC, DOLL, EGAD, GOOF, LEER, LOVE, LUSH, MEOW, NAG, OBOY, OINK, PROF. CHOF AND SUEY.

There's even and END.

Annual reports covering endowments of four Ivy League universities show steady emphasis on common stock investment, particularly in New York Exchange-listed issues. Harvard's General Investments totaled $975 million, 54.7 per cent in common stocks; Yale's Endowments totaled $470 million, 69 per cent in common stocks; Princeton's Pooled Funds, $311 million, 73.6 per cent in common stocks; Columbia University's Pooled Funds, $210 million, 44.3 per cent in common stocks.

CITIZENSHIP BY GEOGRAPHY

Government agencies have received so many inquiries about the meaning of the phrase "natural born citizen" in the Constitution that special studies of the matter will be issued shortly. The question arises, of course, in connection with the eligibility of George Romney to become a candidate for President.

Article 2 of the Constitution says: "No person except a natural born citizen. . .shall be eligible for the office of President." Romney was born July 8, 1907, in Chihuahua, Mexico, 200 miles from the U.S. border. He was the son of U.S. citizens Gaskell and Anna (Pratt) Romney, who were members of a Mormon colony there.

Romney's grandfather had been forced to flee from Arizona to Mexico in 1885 because he practiced polygamy. When Romney was five years old, American families were expelled from Mexico by Pancho Villa, the Mexican border bandit and nationalist leader. The Romneys, who finally settled in Salt Lake City, never relinquished their American citizenship.

The question of Romney's birth is not new. It was raised as a theoretical constitutional bar to his filling the Presidency at least five years ago. The issue is academic at this time. Nevertheless, Rep. Emanuel Celler on May 14 expressed "serious doubts" as to Romney's eligibility. "I think the matter should be laid to rest," said Celler, "with some sort of pronouncement by a group of men who are responsible and whose word would be taken on faith."

Astonishingly enough, the question never has been answered by judicial decision or legislative action, though legal channels have come close. The citizenship requirement apparently provoked neither debate nor opposition among the framers of the Constitution, but requirements of age and residence were discussed.

Eleven of the Federalist papers deal with the executive office. None of them discusses the citizenship requirement.

The First Congress in an Act to Establish an Uniform Rule of Naturalization ruled: "The children of citizens of the United States that may be born beyond sea, or outside the limits of the United States, shall be considered as natural born citizens of the United States." But Congress has no authority to interpret the Constitution. The early immigration act would constitute only legislative history which a court might consider in case of a challenge to the eligibility of Romney or any other foreign-born citizen.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., born Aug. 17, 1914, at the Roosevelt summer home at Campobello Island, a stone's throw beyond the boundary of Maine, was accepted into the House of Representatives in June 1949. He had to be a citizen to serve in the House. He was not a naturalized citizen. A Supreme Court decision of 1898 (U.S. vs. Wong Kim Ark) held that the 14th Amendment "contemplates two sources of citizenship and two only, birth and naturalization."

By this reasoning, the House accepted young Roosevelt as a citizen by birth. Of course the House has no "natural born" requirement.

Prof. Edward S. Corwin of Princeton has written: "Should the American people ever choose for President a person born abroad of American parents, it is highly improbable that any other constitutional agency would venture to challenge their decision." Anybody who entertains ideas about sidetracking Romney had better begin reaching for the switch now.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It may be a man's world, but women get most of the headaches. A survey showed that Americans annually suffer 4½ million headaches severe enough to sideline their victims for the day. Women had an average of six headaches, men fewer than three.

But snifflers had it worse. There are 25 times as many common colds as there are severe headaches.

VISITORS SPARK U.S. TRAVEL TRADE

The U.S. drive to attract more visitors to the United States is making slow but steady progress. In the first eleven months of last year, the volume of pleasure and business visitors from overseas rose by just over eleven per cent, the United States Travel Service reported.

The U.S.T.S. indicated that visitors from overseas in November of last year showed little gain over the same month in 1965.

The impact of the currency restrictions on British travelers appears to have been one factor in this showing. The number of visitors from the United Kingdom declined by over six per cent in the month. In the eleven months as a whole the gain in visitors from Britain was twelve per cent.

The next largest contingent from overseas was from Germany, followed by the French. The biggest increase was in visitors from Brazil, the number of which were up over twenty-nine per cent.

BACK TO SCHOOL BLUES

Exhausting wasn't it - that end of summer scramble to get the youngsters ready, set and off again to school? And there's no way to avoid a certain amount of last minute hustle. For who can be sure, in mid-July or even early August, just how long the trousers will have to be, or how big the shoes, for a school-age youngster, come that first week of September?

Exhausting in another sense, too. We suspect most parents noted that it cost more for those new school outfits this year than last, just as last year cost more than the year before. But before jumping to the conclusion that this is because the makers and sellers of clothing and shoes decided to hike the price for fatter profits, it's a good idea to look at some facts.

Take shoes, for example. According to government statistics - and the National Footwear Manufacturers Association agrees this is correct - the retail price of shoes increased 3.6 percent since the first of the year. But government studies also show that the price of cattle-hide leather, which the shoe manufacturer must buy, has gone up 14.4 percent in the same period. Cattle - hide prices of cattle - hide leather, which the shoe manufacturer must buy, has gone up 14.4 percent in the same period. Cattle hide prices have increased a little more than 25 percent.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture informs us that between 45 and 52 percent of the manufacturer's cost for shoes is for the leather. With the price of other essential shoemaking materials (buckles, nails, laces and so on) having risen from 10 to 18 percent, that 3.6 percent increase that we have to pay at the store for the finished product doesn't seem so bad after all.

One might even wonder how the shoe industry can do it, and still leave itself enough margin of profit that it can afford to stay in business. A trade association survey shows the industry's profit margin to average about 2.1 percent. We figure the only people qualified to complain about a manufacturer getting that much profit would be those who are willing to work in his factory for nothing more than their board and keep.

It's all too easy to blame the merchant and the manufacturer when the things we have to buy cost more each year. The fact is that they, like ourselves, are caught up in that nationwide financial circumstances sometimes referred to as "inflation." We need to look elsewhere for the cause of that. It is, indeed, a mark of responsibility to customers, as well as of technical competence, when a private industry keeps the price increase for its finished product comparatively lower than the increased cost of raw materials and labor.

PENCILS VERSUS GUNS

At this time, when nations all around the world are struggling to establish governments, which give the individual the right to a secret ballot, United States citizens should avail themselves of the right to vote at coming elections.

For nearly 20 years, United States citizens have enjoyed the privilege of being rulers of a republic, where the individual is boss and by his ballot can preserve his liberties. Unless one has lived under a dictator, it is hard to imagine what it would be like under a political system from which there was no relief except by revolution.

In the United States, you don't need guns and bullets to get rid of a tyrant, from the lowest to the highest public office. All you need is a lead pencil and a paper ballot. Don't pass up your right to vote at every election. Remember it cost many men their lives to give you the privilege of using the ballot. It is your guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. VOTE.

PENALIZING SMALL STATES

Thirty - nine states of the Republic would be severely penalized by adoption of the direct voting plan of electing the President.

These are the states whose votes, even under the present Electoral College system with its unit rule giving all a state's electoral votes to the high man, could be overridden by votes in the 11 largest states. But at present the 39 at least have one presidential elector for each member of the U.S. Senate and House. They would lose this advantage under the direct voting plan.

Great concern for protection of small states against the larger ones was expressed by the Founders of Freedom as they struggled to write a Federal Constitution. The Electoral College system they devised was based on principles they regarded as absolutely essential to the establishment of a Republic.

This system has been changed in practice from its original concept. But this does not mean that the Electoral College ought to be abolished, which would be the effect of direct voting for President and Vice President. Reform, not abolition, is needed.

The Congressional District Plan is by far the best of any proposed for reforming the Electoral College. It would give the voter in the smallest state the same power -- no more, no less -- as the voter in the largest state. Every state, large or small, would have one Elector for each congressional district and two from the state at large. The voting on Electors would be by districts, and each candidate for President would receive only those electoral votes he won at the polls. HLH.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Among the findings which Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., suppressed during his investigation of sex and violence on television was a sobering summary by Dr. Ralph Garry, a special consultant from Boston University.

In an undated memo to Dodd, Dr. Garry cited these staff findings:

"1. Staff inventory shows that the industry has taken no steps to regulate itself. Not only have programs with a large dosage of violence trebled, but the portrayal of the macabre and sadistic has increased.

"2. The National Association of Broadcasters has filed to take any significant action in applying NAB code to network programs.

"3. Research evidence submitted by experts, acknowledged by the television industry, rejects the oft - used excuse that violence and aggression on television relieves children of such feelings.

"4. In spite of prior statements by network personnel that if such programs could be shown as harmful they would be stopped, network officials ignored or rejected the research evidence.

"5. Networks control programming to a greater degree than heretofore. . . .

"6. Networks have exploited the use of sex, crime and violence to attract or hold audience, although maintaining the opposite or minimizing same."

As chairman of the State Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, Dodd had the duty to expose how the television networks, in pursuit of the advertising dollar, were bringing murder and mayhem, sex and sadism into the homes of America.

Instead, Dodd huddled privately with network officials, then proceeded to suppress the most damaging evidence. The senator readily agreed, for example, to take NBC Chairman Robert Sarnoff's testimony behind closed doors.

DON'T - CALL - US - WE'LL --CALL - YOU --

Gratefully, one of the attorneys representing NBC, Tom Meeker, wrote Dodd a "Dear Tom" letter.

"Thank you for seeing us yesterday," wrote Meeker. "Mr. Sarnoff appreciated your willingness to hear his testimony in closed hearings and would prefer to make arrangements for the same subsequent to his return from Africa in about five weeks. In accordance with your chat yesterday, I will call you Monday afternoon."

When it finally suited Sarnoff's convenience to appear, Dodd summoned his chief counsel, Paul Laskin, to his office a few minutes before the hearing. Laskin was astonished to discover Robert Sarnoff and Attorney, Bernard Segal, in the room.

In front of the witness whom Laskin was supposed to cross-examine in a few minutes, Dodd let loose a torrent of abuse against his chief counsel. The senator accused Laskin of pressing the investigation too hard and roared that he would no longer tolerate such aggressiveness.

The berated Laskin was so upset that he suffered a nosebleed on the way to the hearing room. With the press and public shut out, the hearing began with an air of cordiality. Sarnoff was welcomed as a returning hero rather than a witness under investigation.

He was allowed to read a long, self - serving statement. Then Laskin started cautiously to ask a few questions. But Dodd arbitrarily cut him off, and the hearings ended without a single probing question asked.

Dodd was considerably less courteous to David Levy, the former NBC program director, who admitted behind closed doors that the network had deliberately injected sex and violence into its shows. He identified Robert Kintner, then NBC's President, now a White House aide, as the architect of this policy.

The senator, listening impatiently to Levy, grumbled: "I don't think we are getting much out of this testimony, but let's get it over with."

Later, Dodd snapped at Levy again: "We have got a lot of vague information here, and we haven't got one fact on this record yet that is worth a whit. If you have got some facts, give them to us. I haven't all morning to sit around here. I have got a lot of things to do."

Actually, Levy gave the committee more facts than did any other witness. It was merely that Dodd didn't like the testimony which put him on the spot with his friends at NBC. He kept the testimony under lock and key.

LEGAL LEGERDEMAIN

NBC's defense during the TV hearings was directed by the world's largest law firm -- Cahill, Gordon, Reindel and Ohl -- whose senior partner, the late John Cahill, was a director of both NBC and its parent company Radio Corporation of America.

At one point, Cahill personally appeared before Dodd's committee as the network's attorney. NBC's own general counsel, Thoms Ervin, was nudged aside to make way for the world's largest law firm. The firm had reason to be satisfied with the outcome.

It is a coincidence worth recording that this same law firm is now defending Dodd in his fight against senate censure. A task force of seven attorneys, headed by John Sonnett, has been representing Dodd.

When Dodd was asked who was paying the $3,000 a day such a legal force customarily would cost, the senator replied on a TV program: "I wanted to make the point that John Sonnett is doing this, as he presented it to me, as a public service. I couldn't afford to hire a firm such as this."

After this column pointed out the favors Dodd had done for the law firm during the TV investigation, however, the firm hastily presented Dodd with a bill for $47,167. The senator's friends reportedly are trying to scrape up the money to pay it.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Labor Chiefs Begin Humphrey Buildup For Showdown With Bob Kennedy Camp.

New York: -- One of the nation's most sophisticated political analysts inside labor turned to a companion the other day after an off - the - record hotel suite breakfast with Hubert H. Humphrey and observed:

"Tell you why the vice president is beginning to outdistance Kennedy: While Bobby is shooting the rapids, Hubert is shooting the breeze. Bobby hits the high spots, contacts us when he needs us and dispatches assistants to follow through. Humphrey makes the time to tell us what he thinks -- in person, not by remote control or messengers."

Having just crisscrossed the nation, this columnist can attest to the prevalence of the sentiment. In any showdown, virtually all of labor but Walter Reuther will do battle for the vice president. In fact, they already are.

One influential labor leader, Louis Stulberg, head of some 455,000 ladies garment workers, has just set a new fashion on the socio - political - labor scene.

On the morning of Wednesday, May 17, Stulberg cut the pattern for what he hopes will sweep industry after industry. Behind the closed doors of the Waldorf -- Astoria's Carte Blanche room, he called a labor - management summit breakfast gathering. There were 24 men -- and the vice president. It was all eggs and talk and no politics nor fund raising.

Amongst them were the men who talk for $10 billion worth of ladies garment production -- and the union men with whom they negotiate. There were Republicans, too. And the aristocracy of the industry such as Herman Seigenfeld, the couturier who is the "Tiffany" of American dress fashions.

It was breakfast at nine at Stulberg's invitation. This comparatively new national union president just does not believe that the story of Vietnam had gotten through. He does not believe that hectic and harassed businessmen and labor leaders were reading turbid reports of the Kennedy round, gold outflow, economic flow and ebb. Stulberg is for a strong policy in Southeast Asia, but Vietnam and Mr. Humphrey's report of his recent flash trips across two worlds were not the basic part of the discussion.

The vice president talked of the impact of the Kennedy round cut in tariffs and its meaning in solid dollars, purchasing power, and as a force in a world where most nations now no longer fight for real estate but for world markets -- be it in steel or cotton goods.

"Of course I'm a Humphrey and administration man," said Stulberg later. "But much more important is the fact that Hubert agreed to stay over and brief the labor - management - employer policy makers in our industry. They should know, informally, off the record, what's involved here at home as well as abroad. There should be a series of these regional - industrial summits face to face with Humphrey."

It was thus that the late John Kennedy started. But then, the "host" usually was Arthur Goldberg. Breakfast was at the Carlyle. And mostly these were labor gatherings -- not joint union - management briefings.

But somewhere along the line Robert Kennedy, not entirely unthinkingly, lost touch and rapport with the labor cadres he must have to win a national election. This is not merely a New York phenomenon. For Bob Kennedy it is a national failing.

At the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO state convention early in April, one of the federation officials charged that Kennedy opposed the war because he "wants to be president." There was applause -- for the speaker, not for Kennedy. It is so amongst labor men in Ohio, Illinois and, just a few days ago, I ran into similar sentiments in the West and Southwest. But it is more than the war which separates Bob Kennedy from the labor movement which will send some 150 delegates to the '68 Democratic convention and more probably in '72.

There are philosophical differences. To the veteran labor leaders, the senator is of the new left inside the Democratic party. And he has not cultivated the traditional union chiefs either in his home state or across the land. He does not "shirt sleeve" with them. They will fight his nomination. They will buck him if he's nominated. Though some of them are but 10 or 15 years older than he is, he has, they feel, spurned their generation. At a banquet in Washington which honored Hubert Humphrey May 8, AFL-CIO president George Meany summed it all up:

"When we have good friends, we don't go looking for new friends to replace them."

Meany, speaking at the podium which was but a few feet from a chair which had been reserved for Walter Reuther, who did not show, looked squarely at the guest of honor -- HHH.

Change is an essential ingredient in modern life.

It has come at a fast pace during the lives of all of today's inhabitants of the earth.

The Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, formerly the pride of the British Atlantic fleet, are going into moth balls. The big ships are too expensive to operate and can't compete with swift jet air travel between the United States and Europe.

Down in this part of the nation, the announcement that the Hotel Cairo is going to be demolished evokes mixed feelings.

The hotel was once the finest between St. Louis and Memphis.

Less than a decade ago it gave travelers from the North a gracious introduction to the South.

Motorists came into Cairo with the first sight of mistletoe growing in tree tops. At the Cairo Hotel the visitor could buy country ham and redeye gravy served plantation style.

The traveler was in a different world when he reached Cairo. Once crossing the Ohio river, he knew that he was in the South but Cairo was the gateway.

It is futile to grieve about the passing of the era, which made the Cairo hotel obsolete. In many respects it is better that the old structure will be torn down rather than stand sadly as the ghostly sentinel of another day.

The absence of the hotel and changing highway travel habits will present a tremendous opportunity to Southeast Missouri.

Residents of North Central states usually travel through Illinois and Cairo on their way to both the Mid-South and the Southeast. When Interstate 55 is completed from St. Louis to Memphis, much of this travel may be expected to come over this more direct route to the South.

St. Louis, once difficult and slow to travel through, can be speedily traversed by multiple lane expressways feeding into the Interstate.

No longer will be desirable to avoid it and travel out of the way in order to do so. Slow, curvy and hilly Missouri roads will be eliminated.

Southeast Missouri will be more attractive to travelers if it develops its own recreational areas, gives its visitors attractive quarters for overnight lodging and can provide good food in clean, comfortable, cheerful surroundings - all at reasonable cost.

Perhaps our own hospitality can match or even improve on that of the Hotel Cairo dining room in its opulent heyday.

Every Southeast Missouri citizen can help create the climate which will make this region attractive to visitors, an effort that could prove to be as profitable as it is pleasant for all residents of this region.

Several states have discovered "treasure chests" riding at the front and rear of automobiles - license plates.

They issue "personalized" plates, and drivers pay extra money for them. In Connecticut, for example, drivers pay $10 extra for a pair of them and have swelled the state treasury by $540,000 since 1937.

Among the states issuing personalized plates, which has led to a national word game, are Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Texas, Ohio and Oregon.

In Texas, where personalized plates are covered with a reflective material that converts them into "safety" tags that brilliantly reflect the headlights of other cars, the ideas for auto tags, as one might expect, come large and tall in the best traditions of the state.

Although not the caped crusader of TV fame, one Texan has plates that read BATMAN. Another Texan's car carries "royal flush" plates - AKQJ10.

There's an 007 in Ohio and a BAM 007 in Oregon.

The special plates often lead to humorous results. In Connecticut, there's a DAFT, FUN, I.Q., GIN, and even a BURP and an OOPS.

The I.Q. tags belong to insurance broker Hugh Jeffries of Simsbury, who has an IQ of 140-plus. In a similar way, other plates tend to identify or classify motorists and their interests. Here are some examples.

--Jeanne and Felix Klock, who head the Klock Corporation, have TICK and TOCK plates for the two family cars.

-- In Hartford, nuns from St. Joseph's Convent drive around town in a station wagon labeled DEUS, and cause a few smiles because it is the Greek word for God.

--Alexander DiFronzo, who is conductor of the 79th Army Band, is the owner of BAND tags.

--The owner of GIN, Miss Juliett Higgins, is going out of the restaurant business but into the liquor business.

--Veterans of the Army and the Navy are the owners of, respectively, as you might imagine, ARMY and NAVY plates.

Other Connecticut plates, without explanations for their choice, are AHOY, BANG, BOO, BLAH, CHIC, DOC, DOLL, EGAD, GOOF, LEER, LOVE, LUSH, MEOW, NAG, OBOY, OINK, PROF, CHOF AND SUEY.

There's even and END.

Annual reports covering endowments of four Ivy League universities show steady emphasis on common stock investment, particularly in New York Exchange-listed issues. Harvard's General Investments totaled $975 million, 54.7 per cent in common stocks; Yale's Endowments totaled $470 million, 69 per cent in common stocks; Princeton's Pooled Funds, $311 million, 73.6 per cent in common stocks; Columbia University's Pooled Funds, $210 million, 44.3 per cent in common stocks.

CITIZENSHIP BY GEOGRAPHY

Government agencies have received so many inquiries about the meaning of the phrase "natural born citizen" in the Constitution that special studies of the matter will be issued shortly. The question arises, of course, in connection with the eligibility of George Romney to become a candidate for President.

Article 2 of the Constitution says: "No person except a natural born citizen. . .shall be eligible for the office of President." Romney was born July 8, 1907, in Chihuahua, Mexico, 200 miles from the U.S. border. He was the son of U.S. citizens Gaskell and Anna (Pratt) Romney, who were members of a Mormon colony there.

Romney's grandfather had been forced to flee from Arizona to Mexico in 1885 because he practiced polygamy. When Romney was five years old, American families were expelled from Mexico by Pancho Villa, the Mexican border bandit and nationalist leader. The Romneys, who finally settled in Salt Lake City, never relinquished their American citizenship.

The question of Romney's birth is not new. It was raised as a theoretical constitutional bar to his filling the Presidency at least five years ago. The issue is academic at this time. Nevertheless, Rep. Emanuel Celler on May 14 expressed "serious doubts" as to Romney's eligibility. "I think the matter should be laid to rest," said Celler, "with some sort of pronouncement by a group of men who are responsible and whose word would be taken on faith."

Astonishingly enough, the question never has been answered by judicial decision or legislative action, though legal channels have come close. The citizenship requirement apparently provoked neither debate nor opposition among the framers of the Constitution, but requirements of age and residence were discussed.

Eleven of the Federalist papers deal with the executive office. None of them discusses the citizenship requirement.

The First Congress in an Act to Establish an Uniform Rule of Naturalization ruled: "The children of citizens of the United States that may be born beyond sea, or outside the limits of the United States, shall be considered as natural born citizens of the United States." But Congress has no authority to interpret the Constitution. The early immigration act would constitute only legislative history which a court might consider in case of a challenge to the eligibility of Romney or any other foreign-born citizen.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., born Aug. 17, 1914, at the Roosevelt summer home at Campobello Island, a stone's throw beyond the boundary of Maine, was accepted into the House of Representatives in June 1949. He had to be a citizen to serve in the House. He was not a naturalized citizen. A Supreme Court decision of 1898 (U.S. vs. Wong Kim Ark) held that the 14th Amendment "contemplates two sources of citizenship and two only, birth and naturalization."

By this reasoning, the House accepted young Roosevelt as a citizen by birth. Of course the House has no "natural born" requirement. Prof. Edward S. Corwin of Princeton has written: "Should the American people ever choose for President a person born abroad of American parents, it is highly improbable that any other constitutional agency would venture to challenge their decision." Anybody who entertains ideas about sidetracking Romney had better begin reaching for the switch now.

This system has been changed in practice from its original concept. But this does not mean that the Electoral College ought to be abolished, which would be the effect of direct voting for President and Vice President. Reform, not abolition, is needed.

The Congressional District Plan is by far the best of any proposed for reforming the Electoral College. It would give the voter in the smallest state the same power -- no more, no less -- as the voter in the largest state. Every state, large or small, would have one Elector for each congressional district and two from the state at large. The voting on Electors would be by districts, and each candidate for President would receive only those electoral votes he won at the polls. HLH.

The moon shone silver on the waters of the ocean and the waves beating on the shore were hardly equal in intensity to the waves of passion on the beach nearby. One ardent couple pulled apart long enough for the young man to whisper: "Darling, am I the first man to make love to you like this?"

Her tone when she answered was irritable. "Of course you are," she said. "I don't know why you men always ask the same ridiculous question."

VISITORS SPARK U.S. TRAVEL TRADE

The U.S. drive to attract more visitors to the United States is making slow but steady progress. In the first eleven months of last year, the volume of pleasure and business visitors from overseas rose by just over eleven per cent, the United States Travel Service reported.

The U.S.T.S. indicated that visitors from overseas in November of last year showed little gain over the same month in 1965.

The impact of the currency restrictions on British travelers appears to have been one factor in this showing. The number of visitors from the United Kingdom declined by over six per cent in the month. In the eleven months as a whole the gain in visitors from Britain was twelve per cent.

The next largest contingent from overseas was from Germany, followed by the French. The biggest increase was in visitors from Brazil, the number of which were up over twenty-nine per cent.

DIESELS SET SPEED RECORD

Two new 3,600- horsepower diesel units recently set what is believed to be a coast to - coast speed record for a freight locomotive.

In a high - speed demonstration run conducted by the diesel locomotive manufacturer, the two units traveled 3,325 miles from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast in the elapsed time of 96 hours, 40 minutes. The average speed was 34.38 m.p.h.

BACK TO SCHOOL BLUES

Exhausting wasn't it - that end of summer scramble to get the youngsters ready, set and off again to school? And there's no way to avoid a certain amount of last minute hustle. For who can be sure, in mid-July or even early August, just how long the trousers will have to be, or how big the shoes, for a school-age youngster, come that first week of September?

Exhausting in another sense, too. We suspect most parents noted that it cost more for those new school outfits this year than last, just as last year cost more than the year before. But before jumping to the conclusion that this is because the makers and sellers of clothing and shoes decided to hike the price for fatter profits, it's a good idea to look at some facts.

Take shoes, for example. According to government statistics - and the National Footwear Manufacturers Association agrees this is correct - the retail price of shoes increased 3.6 percent since the first of the year. But government studies also show that the price of cattle-hide leather, which the shoe manufacturer must buy, has gone up 14.4 percent in the same period. Cattle - hide prices of cattle - hide leather, which the shoe manufacturer must buy, has gone up 14.4 percent in the same period. Cattle hide prices have increased a little more than 25 percent.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture informs us that between 45 and 52 percent of the manufacturer's cost for shoes is for the leather. With the price of other essential shoemaking materials (buckles, nails, laces and so on) having risen from 10 to 18 percent, that 3.6 percent increase that we have to pay at the store for the finished product doesn't seem so bad after all.

One might even wonder how the shoe industry can do it, and still leave itself enough margin of profit that it can afford to stay in business. A trade association survey shows the industry's profit margin to average about 2.1 percent. We figure the only people qualified to complain about a manufacturer getting that much profit would be those who are willing to work in his factory for nothing more than their board and keep.

It's all too easy to blame the merchant and the manufacturer when the things we have to buy cost more each year. The fact is that they, like ourselves, are caught up in that nationwide financial circumstances sometimes referred to as "inflation." We need to look elsewhere for the cause of that. It is, indeed, a mark of responsibility to customers, as well as of technical competence, when a private industry keeps the price increase for its finished product comparatively lower than the increased cost of raw materials and labor.

PENCILS VERSUS GUNS

At this time, when nations all around the world are struggling to establish governments, which give the individual the right to a secret ballot, United States citizens should avail themselves of the right to vote at coming elections.

For nearly 20 years, United States citizens have enjoyed the privilege of being rulers of a republic, where the individual is boss and by his ballot can preserve his liberties. Unless one has lived under a dictator, it is hard to imagine what it would be like under a political system from which there was no relief except by revolution.

In the United States, you don't need guns and bullets to get rid of a tyrant, from the lowest to the highest public office. All you need is a lead pencil and a paper ballot. Don't pass up your right to vote at every election. Remember it cost many men their lives to give you the privilege of using the ballot. It is your guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. VOTE.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Among the findings which Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., suppressed during his investigation of sex and violence on television was a sobering summary by Dr. Ralph Garry, a special consultant from Boston University.

In an undated memo to Dodd, Dr. Garry cited these staff findings:

"1. Staff inventory shows that the industry has taken no steps to regulate itself. Not only have programs with a large dosage of violence trebled, but the portrayal of the macabre and sadistic has increased.

"2. The National Association of Broadcasters has filed to take any significant action in applying NAB code to network programs.

"3. Research evidence submitted by experts, acknowledged by the television industry, rejects the oft - used excuse that violence and aggression on television relieves children of such feelings.

"4. In spite of prior statements by network personnel that if such programs could be shown as harmful they would be stopped, network officials ignored or rejected the research evidence.

"5. Networks control programming to a greater degree than heretofore. . . .

"6. Networks have exploited the use of sex, crime and violence to attract or hold audience, although maintaining the opposite or minimizing same."

As chairman of the State Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, Dodd had the duty to expose how the television networks, in pursuit of the advertising dollar, were bringing murder and mayhem, sex and sadism into the homes of America.

Instead, Dodd huddled privately with network officials, then proceeded to suppress the most damaging evidence. The senator readily agreed, for example, to take NBC Chairman Robert Sarnoff's testimony behind closed doors.

DON'T - CALL - US - WE'LL --CALL - YOU --

Gratefully, one of the attorneys representing NBC, Tom Meeker, wrote Dodd a "Dear Tom" letter.

"Thank you for seeing us yesterday," wrote Meeker. "Mr. Sarnoff appreciated your willingness to hear his testimony in closed hearings and would prefer to make arrangements for the same subsequent to his return from Africa in about five weeks. In accordance with your chat yesterday, I will call you Monday afternoon."

When it finally suited Sarnoff's convenience to appear, Dodd summoned his chief counsel, Paul Laskin, to his office a few minutes before the hearing. Laskin was astonished to discover Robert Sarnoff and Attorney, Bernard Segal, in the room.

In front of the witness whom Laskin was supposed to cross-examine in a few minutes, Dodd let loose a torrent of abuse against his chief counsel. The senator accused Laskin of pressing the investigation too hard and roared that he would no longer tolerate such aggressiveness.

The beratedLaskin was so upset that he suffered a nosebleed on the way to the hearing room. With the press and public shut out, the hearing began with an air of cordiality. Sarnoff was welcomed as a returning hero rather than a witness under investigation.

He was allowed to read a long, self - serving statement. Then Laskin started cautiously to ask a few questions. But Dodd arbitrarily cut him off, and the hearings ended without a single probing question asked.

Dodd was considerably less courteous to David Levy, the former NBC program director, who admitted behind closed doors that the network had deliberately injected sex and violence into its shows. He identified Robert Kintner, then NBC's President, now a White House aide, as the architect of this policy.

The senator, listening impatiently to Levy, grumbled: "I don't think we are getting much out of this testimony, but let's get it over with."

Later, Dodd snapped at Levy again: "We have got a lot of vague information here, and we haven't got one fact on this record yet that is worth a whit. If you have got some facts, give them to us. I haven't all morning to sit around here. I have got a lot of things to do."

Actually, Levy gave the committee more facts than did any other witness. It was merely that Dodd didn't like the testimony which put him on the spot with his friends at NBC. He kept the testimony under lock and key.

LEGAL LEGERDEMAIN

NBC's defense during the TV hearings was directed by the world's largest law firm -- Cahill, Gordon, Reindel and Ohl -- whose senior partner, the late John Cahill, was a director of both NBC and its parent company Radio Corporation of America.

At one point, Cahill personally appeared before Dodd's committee as the network's attorney. NBC's own general counsel, Thoms Ervin, was nudged aside to make way for the world's largest law firm. The firm had reason to be satisfied with the outcome.

It is a coincidence worth recording that this same law firm is now defending Dodd in his fight against senate censure. A task force of seven attorneys, headed by John Sonnett, has been representing Dodd.

When Dodd was asked who was paying the $3,000 a day such a legal force customarily would cost, the senator replied on a TV program: "I wanted to make the point that John Sonnett is doing this, as he presented it to me, as a public service. I couldn't afford to hire a firm such as this."

After this column pointed out the favors Dodd had done for the law firm during the TV investigation, however, the firm hastily presented Dodd with a bill for $47,167. The senator's friends reportedly are trying to scrape up the money to pay it.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Labor Chiefs Begin Humphrey Buildup For Showdown With Bob Kennedy Camp.

New York: -- One of the nation's most sophisticated political analysts inside labor turned to a companion the other day after an off - the - record hotel suite breakfast with Hubert H. Humphrey and observed:

"Tell you why the vice president is beginning to outdistance Kennedy: While Bobby is shooting the rapids, Hubert is shooting the breeze. Bobby hits the high spots, contacts us when he needs us and dispatches assistants to follow through. Humphrey makes the time to tell us what he thinks -- in person, not by remote control or messengers."

Having just crisscrossed the nation, this columnist can attest to the prevalence of the sentiment. In any showdown, virtually all of labor but Walter Reuther will do battle for the vice president. In fact, they already are.

One influential labor leader, Louis Stulberg, head of some 455,000 ladies garment workers, has just set a new fashion on the socio - political - labor scene.

On the morning of Wednesday, May 17, Stulberg cut the pattern for what he hopes will sweep industry after industry. Behind the closed doors of the Waldorf -- Astoria's Carte Blanche room, he called a labor - management summit breakfast gathering. There were 24 men -- and the vice president. It was all eggs and talk and no politics nor fund raising.

Amongst them were the men who talk for $10 billion worth of ladies garment production -- and the union men with whom they negotiate. There were Republicans, too. And the aristocracy of the industry such as Herman Seigenfeld, the couturier who is the "Tiffany" of American dress fashions.

It was breakfast at nine at Stulberg's invitation. This comparatively new national union president just does not believe that the story of Vietnam had gotten through. He does not believe that hectic and harassed businessmen and labor leaders were reading turbid reports of the Kennedy round, gold outflow, economic flow and ebb. Stulberg is for a strong policy in Southeast Asia, but Vietnam and Mr. Humphrey's report of his recent flash trips across two worlds were not the basic part of the discussion.

The vice president talked of the impact of the Kennedy round cut in tariffs and its meaning in solid dollars, purchasing power, and as a force in a world where most nations now no longer fight for real estate but for world markets -- be it in steel or cotton goods.

"Of course I'm a Humphrey and administration man," said Stulberg later. "But much more important is the fact that Hubert agreed to stay over and brief the labor - management - employer policy makers in our industry. They should know, informally, off the record, what's involved here at home as well as abroad. There should be a series of these regional - industrial summits face to face with Humphrey."

It was thus that the late John Kennedy started. But then, the "host" usually was Arthur Goldberg. Breakfast was at the Carlyle. And mostly these were labor gatherings -- not joint union - management briefings.

But somewhere along the line Robert Kennedy, not entirely unthinkingly, lost touch and rapport with the labor cadres he must have to win a national election. This is not merely a New York phenomenon. For Bob Kennedy it is a national failing.

At the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO state convention early in April, one of the federation officials charged that Kennedy opposed the war because he "wants to be president." There was applause -- for the speaker, not for Kennedy. It is so amongst labor men in Ohio, Illinois and, just a few days ago, I ran into similar sentiments in the West and Southwest. But it is more than the war which separates Bob Kennedy from the labor movement which will send some 150 delegates to the '68 Democratic convention and more probably in '72.

There are philosophical differences. To the veteran labor leaders, the senator is of the new left inside the Democratic party. And he has not cultivated the traditional union chiefs either in his home state or across the land. He does not "shirt sleeve" with them. They will fight his nomination. They will buck him if he's nominated. Though some of them are but 10 or 15 years older than he is, he has, they feel, spurned their generation. At a banquet in Washington which honored Hubert Humphrey May 8, AFL -CIO president George Meany summed it all up:

"When we have good friends, we don't go looking for new friends to replace them."

Meany, speaking at the podium which was but a few feet from a chair which had been reserved for Walter Reuther, who did not show, looked squarely at the guest of honor -- HHH.

Quaker Meetings Turning to Trained Pastors for Leaders

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Quaker meetings, traditionally dependent for their content on silent meditation and the spontaneous comments of anyone feeling moved to speak, are turning increasingly today to trained pastors for leadership.

And the unpredictable silences, out of which might emerge much discourse or hardly any, of variable worth, are giving way in many cases to planned periods of Bible readings, prayers, hymns and sometimes sermons.

"Some Quakers are moving in a direction of forms and ministry that are not much distinguished from some Baptist and Methodist churches," said Dr. Wilmer A. Cooper, dean of the Graduate School of Religion of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

But it's a controversial trend in some quarters.

"A good many Quakers rebel at it, objecting that we're becoming just like the rest of the churches," he added. "They still feel that so far as the local congregation is concerned, they want a 'do-it-yourself' kind of program."

Nevertheless, in a Christian movement which in its origins went all the way in rejecting clergy-dominated religion by completely abolishing the role, there is a growing recognition of the need of specially trained ministers.

And Earlham's graduate school, founded six years ago, is turning out men with divinity degrees to fill that need — the first Quaker institution in the 300-year history of the movement to do so.

About two-thirds of the 1,100 Quaker weekly meetings, or congregations, in this country now have either full-time or part-time leaders, who lead worship, do pastoral counseling, make calls, serve at funerals and weddings.

But they disapprove being called clergymen. "None of us like that," Dr. Cooper said in an interview. Generally they're also averse to any honorific religious titles, and to put it bluntly, "Don't call me reverend."

Among Quakers, such terms have sensitive historic connotations that imply giving up religious responsibility and rule to an ordained class.

In contrast, the key Quaker emphasis is that all believers share ministerial obligations as channels of God's truth through an "inner light" of the spirit — a charismatic factor increasingly emphasized by other churches.

As the 17th century Quaker founder, George Fox, put it: "Every man is his own priest."

There are about 122,000 Friends in this country, commonly known as Quakers, and 200,000 of the worldwide. With their stress on personal responsibility, they're noted for their keen social concern and activism.

Although the movement officially supports pacifism, it does not require it, in line with an openness to individual convictions, and many Quakers are not pacifists. Statistics indicate only about half in wartime register as conscientious objectors.

Until Earlham's graduate school got started, Quaker congregations seeking trained leadership had to depend on seminaries of other denominations or interdenominational institutions to prepare them.

And this left scant means for pointing up particular Quaker values, history and approach. The school, which has about 30 students in its three-year graduate course, is now in the midst of a $1.3 million fund-raising campaign.

It hopes to increase its enrollment to 50-to-100 students in the next two years. Courses are in Bible studies, church history, ethics, religious education, counselling — much like the general curriculum at other seminaries.

Although worship groups traditionally are called weekly meetings, they now often are termed congregations. And the "meeting house" sometimes gets dubbed a church, particularly in the West and Midwest.

Some have pulpits, stained-glass windows, use choir robes and crosses in a few places — but most are plain, with little symbolism. Even with pastors, they still usually allow open time for members to speak or give testimony.

"This is almost universal," Dr. Cooper said.

"We have to be on guard against a kind of professionalism that would endanger our emphasis on lay responsibility and the idea that every man has immediate access to God."

The congregations putting the most accent on programmed worship sometims are called "high-church Quakers", in contrast to "low-church" groups — borrowing from the common classification among Episcopalians.

FLOWERS AND Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, wife of Senator Magnuson (D., Wash.), have been long time friends. The Senator's wife, chairman of the National Spring Garden Planting Week Committee, takes an interest in nature's beauty. The national committee she heads seeks support to help make America more beautiful. Her husband, along with Representative Floyd V. Hicks (D., Wash.), have introduced a resolution in Congress to set aside the first week in October each year as "Spring Garden Planting Week."

Planting Week Resolution Introduced in Senate

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The United States Senate received a resolution Wednesday from Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D., Wash.) asking the legislative body to declare the first week of October as "National Spring Garden Planting Week." In introducing the legislation, the Senator stated that planting activities at that time of the year would "represent a big step towards the national beautification goals."

"The National beautification program is one in which each of us must play a role if it is to succeed," Senator Magnuson explained. "The seed has begun to grow and with our support will play a significant part in making our country a more attractive place to live."

Identical legislation sponsored by Senator Magnuson passed the Senate a year ago and many of the nation's governors independently proclaimed individual Spring Garden Planting Week within their state's borders. The Senator's wife, Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, headed the national committee for Spring Garden Planting a Week a year ago, and continues as chairman for 1967.

"Key ingredient in the program," Magnuson continued, "is the individual action of people in and around their own homes."

This can take the form of a "formal garden, a large bed of flowers, a small parking strip, or a window box in an apartment," Senator Magnuson continued.

"If every household in America just spent a few cents for a package of seed, or a few bulbs, the impact upon our American landscape and city scene would be beyond the capabilities of any artist to capture on canvas," the Senator pointed out.

William L. Meachem, Executive Secretary of the National Spring Garden Planting Week Committee, and its chairman, Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, are urging citizens to support the legislation currently pending in the U.S. Senate. This support can take the form of letters to Senator Magnuson, as well as their own senators, expressing interest in passage of the resolution.

CHRIST'S WAY

He stilled the winds and waves
Of Nature's unconsidered storm;
Where illness struck, He did
His miracles perform.
He raised the dead to life,
To dry a mother's tears;
He even spoke the words to calm
The madman's dreadful fears.

But when men chose the wrong
By willful thought, and sinned,
He would not interfere with man
As if he were just wind.
Men are not puppets to be moved;
They must themselves decide.
So all that He could do for me
He did - He died! Ottinger.

TWIN SISTERS

Avila college, Kansas City, Mo., has identical twin nuns on its faculty. Both Sister Helen Lucile and Sister Catherine Louis teach nursing. "We are definitely different," adds Sister Helen Lucile, "but we do look alike, and we even think alike in many ways. When we used to shop for clothes we'd say to each other, 'Stand over there so I can see how we look.'"

"I gave one of our Sisters quite a start when I met her at the airport in Los Angeles, a while ago," says Sister Catherine. "Sister Helen had seen her off in San Francisco." To save trouble they answer to either name.

They have been known to confuse even themselves. Years ago, surrounded by mirrors in a fun house, they were unable to distinguish each other from the images and bumped head-on. In a way it was symbolic of things to come: Helen Rutte, on becoming a nun, took the name Sister Catherine; her twin, Catherine, became Sister Helen.

It is wisdom to believe the heart.

FROZEN ASSETS

With frozen products we can turn the seasons upside down, for with freezing there is less change from the fresh product than with other products of preservation. Here are some points you should keep in mind so you can take full advantage of your frozen assets.

Storage temperature should be maintained at 0 degree F or below. Fluctuation to a higher temperature, even for a short period, reduces quality.

Store frozen foods so that those brought first are used first. Date package and keep an inventory.

Select food from freezer cabinets that are clean and not over-filled.

Packages should be frozen solid. If soft, crushed, or torn, or juice stained, reject them, for there may be loss of quality. Poorly packaged foods may have off flavors.

Buy only in quantities you can use in three to six months, or less.

When marketing, select frozen food last to lessen chance of thawing.

In comparing costs of frozen foods with those preserved by other methods, or fresh products, consider the convenience, quality, waste, time of preparation, cooking, and intended use.

Signs of loss of quality in frozen foods are excess frost in package, loss of bright color in frozen fruits, and vegetables, flavor or texture changes.

If your freezor stops, open the freezer door as little as possible while freezer is not operating. A fully loaded freezer will be cold enough to keep foods frozen for about two days - half full about one day.

If your freezer isn't operating after 24 hours, use dry ice in the freezer. Fifty pounds should hold food below freezing for three to four days in a 20 cubic foot freezer that is full; in half full freezer, two to three days. Never touch dry ice with bare hands. Place it on boards on top of frozen food or on shelves - never directly on the packages.

Quaker Meetings Turning to Trained Pastors for Leaders

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Quaker meetings, traditionally dependent for their content in silent meditation and the spontaneous comments of anyone feeling moved to speak, are turning increasingly today to trained pastors for leadership.

And the unpredictable silences, out of which might emerge much discourse or hardly any, of variable worth, are giving way in many cases to planned periods of Bible readings, prayers, hymns and sometimes sermons.

"Some Quakers are moving in the direction of forms and ministry that are not much distinguished from some Baptist and Methodist churches," said Dr. Wilmer A. Cooper, dean of the Graduate School of Religion of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

But it's a controversial trend in some quarters.

"A good many Quakers rebel at it, objecting that we're becoming just like the rest of the churches," he added. "They still feel that so far as the local congregation is concerned, they want a 'do-it-yourself' kind of program."

Nevertheless, in a Christian movement which in its origins went all the way in rejecting clergy-dominated religion by completely abolishing the role, there is a growing recognition of the need of specially trained ministers.

And Earlham's graduate school, founded six years ago, is turning out men with divinity degrees to fill that need — the first Quaker institution in the 300-year history of the movement to do so.

About two-thirds of the 1,100 Quaker weekly meetings, or congregations, in this country now have either full-time or part-time leaders, who lead worship, do pastoral counseling, make calls, serve at funerals and weddings.

But they disapprove being called clergymen. "None of us like that," Dr. Cooper said in an interview. Generally they're also averse to any honorific religious titles, and to put it bluntly, "Don't call me reverend."

Among Quakers, such terms have sensitive historic connotations that imply giving up religious responsibility and rule to an ordained class.

In contrast, the key Quaker emphasis is that all believers share ministerial obligations as channels of God's truth through an "inner light" of the spirit — a charismatic factor increasingly emphasized by other churches.

As the 17th century Quaker founder, George Fox, put it: "Every man is his own priest."

There are about 122,000 Friends in this country, commonly known as Quakers, and 200,000 of the worldwide. With their stress on personal responsibility, they're noted for their keen social concern and activism.

Although the movement officially supports pacifism, it does not require it, in line with an openness to individual convictions, and many Quakers are not pacifists. Statistics indicate only about half in wartime register as conscientious objectors.

Until Earlham's graduate school got started, Quaker congregations seeking trained leadership had to depend on seminaries of other denominations or interdenominational institutions to prepare them.

And this left scant means for pointing up particular Quaker values, history and approach. The school, which has about 30 students in its three-year graduate course, is now in the midst of a $1.3 million fund-raising campaign.

It hopes to increase its enrollment to 50-to-100 students in the next two years. Courses are in Bible studies, church history, ethics, religious education, counselling — much like the general curriculum at other seminaries.

Although worship groups traditionally are called weekly meetings, they now often are termed congregations. And the "meeting house" sometimes gets dubbed a church, particularly in the West and Midwest.

Some have pulpits, stained-glass windows, use choir robes and crosses in a few places — but most are plain, with little symbolism. Even with pastors, they still usually allow open time for members to speak or give testimony.

"This is almost universal," Dr. Cooper said.

"We have to be on guard against a kind of professionalism that would endanger our emphasis on lay responsibility and the idea that every man has immediate access to God."

The congregations putting the most accent on programmed worship sometims are called "high-church Quakers", in contrast to "low-church" groups — borrowing from the common classification among Episcopalians.

Mrs. Moll Is Circle Hostess

Circle one of the First Baptist church met Thursday morning with Mrs. John E. Moll. Eleven members were present.

Before the meeting, Mrs. Moll served coffee cake, fruit juice and coffee.

Mrs. Don Black, circle chairman, presided. Reports and plans were discssed.

Prayer chairman, Mrs. Dan Murchison, read the calendar of prayer and led in the opening prayer.

The program, "Growth in Indigenous Churches in Guatemala" was given by Mrs. Wendell Weathers.

After a group discussion, the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Lenzie Beck.

FLOWERS AND Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, wife of Senator Magnuson (D., Wash.), have been long time friends. The Senator's wife, chairman of the National Spring Garden Planting Week Committee, takes an interest in nature's beauty. The national committee she heads seeks support to help make America more beautiful. Her husband, along with Representative Floyd V. Hicks (D., Wash.), have introduced a resolution in Congress to set aside the first week in October each year as "Spring Garden Planting Week."

Planting Week Resolution Introduced in Senate

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The United States Senate received a resolution Wednesday from Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D., Wash.) asking the legislative body to declare the first week of October as "National Spring Garden Planting Week." In introducing the legislation, the Senator stated that planting activities at that time of the year would "represent a big step towards the national beautification goals."

"The National beautification program is one in which each of us must play a role if it is to succeed," Senator Magnuson explained. "The seed has begun to grow and with our support will play a significant part in making our country a more attractive place to live."

Identical legislation sponsored by Senator Magnuson passed the Senate a year ago and many of the nation's governors independently proclaimed individual Spring Garden Planting Week within their state's borders. The Senator's wife, Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, headed the national committee for Spring Garden Planting a Week a year ago, and continues as chairman for 1967.

"Key ingredient in the program," Magnuson continued, "is the individual action of people in and around their own homes."

This can take the form of a "formal garden, a large bed of flowers, a small parking strip, or a window box in an apartment," Senator Magnuson continued.

"If every household in America just spent a few cents for a package of seed, or a few bulbs, the impact upon our American landscape and city scene would be beyond the capabilities of any artist to capture on canvas," the Senator pointed out.

William L. Meachem, Executive Secretary of the National Spring Garden Planting Week Committee, and its chairman, Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, are urging citizens to support the legislation currently pending in the U.S. Senate. This support can take the form of letters to Senator Magnuson, as well as their own senators, expressing interest in passage of the resolution.

CHRIST'S WAY

He stilled the winds and waves
Of Nature's unconsidered storm;
Where illness struck, He did
His miracles perform.
He raised the dead to life,
To dry a mother's tears;
He even spoke the words to calm
The madman's dreadful fears.

But when men chose the wrong
By willful thought, and sinned,
He would not interfere with man
As if he were just wind.
Men are not puppets to be moved;
They must themselves decide.
So all that He could do for me
He did - He died! Ottinger.

TWIN SISTERS

Avila college, Kansas City, Mo., has identical twin nuns on its faculty. Both Sister Helen Lucile and Sister Catherine Louis teach nursing. "We are definitely different," adds Sister Helen Lucile, "but we do look alike, and we even think alike in many ways. When we used to shop for clothes we'd say to each other, 'Stand over there so I can see how we look.'"

"I gave one of our Sisters quite a start when I met her at the airport in Los Angeles, a while ago," says Sister Catherine. "Sister Helen had seen her off in San Francisco." To save trouble they answer to either name.

They have been known to confuse even themselves. Years ago, surrounded by mirrors in a fun house, they were unable to distinguish each other from the images and bumped head-on. In a way it was symbolic of things to come: Helen Rutte, on becoming a nun, took the name Sister Catherine; her twin, Catherine, became Sister Helen.

It is wisdom to believe the heart.

FROZEN ASSETS

With frozen products we can turn the seasons upside down, for with freezing there is less change from the fresh product than with other products of preservation. Here are some points you should keep in mind so you can take full advantage of your frozen assets.

Storage temperature should be maintained at 0 degree F or below. Fluctuation to a higher temperature, even for a short period, reduces quality.

Store frozen foods so that those brought first are used first. Date package and keep an inventory.

Select food from freezer cabinets that are clean and not over-filled.

Packages should be frozen solid. If soft, crushed, or torn, or juice stained, reject them, for there may be loss of quality. Poorly packaged foods may have off flavors.

Buy only in quantities you can use in three to six months, or less.

When marketing, select frozen food last to lessen chance of thawing.

In comparing costs of frozen foods with those preserved by other methods, or fresh products, consider the convenience, quality, waste, time of preparation, cooking, and intended use.

Signs of loss of quality in frozen foods are excess frost in package, loss of bright color in frozen fruits, and vegetables, flavor or texture changes.

If your freezor stops, open the freezer door as little as possible while freezer is not operating. A fully loaded freezer will be cold enough to keep foods frozen for about two days - half full about one day.

If your freezer isn't operating after 24 hours, use dry ice in the freezer. Fifty pounds should hold food below freezing for three to four days in a 20 cubic foot freezer that is full; in half full freezer, two to three days. Never touch dry ice with bare hands. Place it on boards on top of frozen food or on shelves - never directly on the packages.

Miss Wulfers Plans Vows With Roy F. Georger

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The engagement of their daughter, Miss Mildred Anne Wulfers, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. George Wulfers, 725 Clark. She plans to marry Roy Francis Georger of Painton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Georger, also of Painton.

Miss Wulfers is a sophomore at Southeast Missouri State College, studying data processing and Georger is a senior at the college, majoring in physics. Both are employed at St. Francis hospital.

The wedding is planned for early August.

SOMETHING NEW has been added at two fishing resorts in Kentucky.

They are called fish cleaning machines and are located on the Robert Gooch resort on Reelfoot lake and Ervin Cobb's on the Kentucky lake.

The first of their kind to be located in this area, the machines clean 50 pounds of fish in five minutes.

Owned and operated by two Southeast Missourians, Louie Wolfe of Lilbourn and Lynn Thompson of Sikeston, the machines are common sights in the southern states but have been unfamiliar to anglers in this area.

THE OLD CHANNEL HOG, Louis Wolfe, has finally opened his lake for area anglers.

It is located one mile west of Lilbourn on state route D in New Madrid county.

Wolfe, whose lake opened this morning, will have one 20-acre lake operating this year after having two 20-acre lakes in operation last year.

The lake is stocked with many varieties and the person to catch the biggest today will be awarded a $10 prize plus all his fish and the day's fishing free.

I think I'll go over to a fish market and see if I can purchase a fairly large fish and see if I can be the winner. We think he's measured all the fish and are the same size. . . .How about that channel hog?

SIX TEAMS will compete for the Black River Connie Mack baseball title this summer.

Among those six is Sikeston's Potlatch team, which won the title and the district title last season.

Dexter and Puxico open league action June 5 at 8 p.m.

All regularly scheduled games will start at that time.

Double headers are schedule to start at 8 p.m. but by a mutual agreement the game may start earlier. Doubleheaders will consist of one five and one seven-inning game.

The season will run from June 5 through July 20 with the battling for the district title and the right to advance to Texas.

Cards, A's Edge Closer To Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis moved to within 2½ games of the National League leading Cincinnati Reds Sunday by edging the Mets 3-2 in New York.

The A's jumped off to a 4-0 lead against the American League leading Chicago White Sox in the third, added another run in the sixth and then, barely escaped with a 5-4 victory in Kansas City. The third place A's trail the White Sox by 4½ games.

Solo home runs by Lou Brock and Roger Maris and a run that scored on a double play ball in the sixth provided the Cards with their winning margin.

Bud Harrelson singled in the Mets first run in the third and Cleon Jones homered to account for the second run in the seventh.

Ray Washburn went the distance for the Cards to record his second victory against two losses. He allowed seven hits, walked no one and struck out three. It was the fifth straight victory for the Cards.

Don Cardwell suffered his fifth loss for the Mets against two victories.

Kansas City put together six consecutive hits after two were out in the third for four runs. Rick Monday, Mike Hershberger, Dick Green, Sal Bando and Jim Gosger all singled and Danny Cater sandwiched a double in the middle of the rally.

The White Sox picked up two runs in the fourth on four hits, including Wayne Causey's double.

Phil Roof ended the A's scoring as he drove a long single to left in the sixth to score Bando who walked.

A single, triple and another single gave the White Sox their final runs in the ninth before reliever Jack Aker got Don Buford on an easy grounder for the third out.

Jim Nash pitched 8 1-3 innings before he tired, but with Aker's help received credit for his fifth victory against three losses. Nash allowed nine hits, walked one and struck out seven and he retired 15 consecutive batters from the fourth until the ninth.

It was the seventh victory for the A's in their last nine games and the fourth straight series they have won.

St. Louis is idle today, but the A's move to the West Coast where they will play the Angels tonight. Chuck Dobson is slated to pitch for Kansas City and Jim McGlothlin for the Angels.

Andretti Makes $2,200

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — American drivers will fill the first 15 spots in the record-smashing 33-car field of the 51st 500-mile auto race May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

But they'll know some never-quit European Grand Prix drivers will be charging up from far back in the field.

Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., defending U.S. Auto Club champion, took speed honors with 168.982 miles per hour and the $2,200 top qualifying prize in 10-mile elimination runs concluded Sunday.

The only unfinished business is a protest that the car of Jochen Rindt of Austria was below the weight limit. The protest was filed by J. Marshall Robbins, owner of the car driven by Lucien Bianchi of Belgium.

The drivers from the world road racing circuit took the applause for sheer determination.

Graham Hill of London, the 1966 Indianapolis winner, will have to start in the last row but it appeared unlikely he would be in the lineup at all. He used two Lotus Fords and a garage full of engines before qualifying at the third-slowest speed of 163.317 m.p.h.

Jackie Stewart of Scotland, who had the '66 race won until his engine failed with 25 miles to go, was "bumped" from the lineup after qualifying at a too-slow 162.221. He broke a connecting rod Sunday morning in his backup Lola-Ford but got a new engine and made the field at a brisk 164.099.

Rindt, of Vienna, also had to qualify two cars before sticking in the lineup. He finaly made it in an Eagle Ford at 163.051. He was No. 2 in the Grand Prix races last year.

The protest against Rindt said his car was below the 1,300-pound limit for Speedway cars.

U.S. Auto Club officials impounded the car and said it will be weighed today.

Bianchi's car is the first alternate for the race. If Rindt's car was disqualified because of the weight, Bianchi's car would be inserted in the starting lineup.

Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., who also was stopped by engine trouble on the first qualifying weekend, was fastest qualifier of the last two sessions with a run at 165.563 Saturday in an Eagle-Ford.

Dan Gurney, international racer from Santa Ana, Calif., came out of the trials doubly happy. His qualifying speed of 167.224 was second only to Andretti's record and six of his All American Eagle cars made the lineup.

Four Lotus Fords, four Gerhardt turbocharged Offenhausers and three Gerhardt Fords were the only challengers of the Gurney vehicles. The Eagles are an American version of the Lotus.

The final field averaged 164.173 m.p.h., against the 1966 record of 160.251. It contains only five rookies, against the record low of four first-time starters in 1960.

Southeast Missourian Claims First In State

COLUMBIA -- Beaumont and Kansas City Central shared honors in the Missouri high school class L track meet Saturday by scoring 28 1/2 points to tie for top honors.

Cape Girardeau Central's Fil Blackiston threw the shot 57 feet, nine inches for second and heaved the discus 160 feet 1/2 inches for second.

The only Southeast Missourian to take a first place was Kennett's Greg Buys, who sailed the discus 171 feet, seven and one third inches. Blackiston was defending champion.

Six records were broken, including a 35-year old record in the 100-yard dash and a 27-yard dash.

Beaumont's Vern Wellington set both marks with a 9.6 time in the 100 and a 20.8 in the 220.

Other records broken were in the high jump, pole vault, 880-yard relay and mile relay.

Don Stevenson of Paseo high in Kansas City jumped 6 feet and seven inches for a high jump mark.

John Beeson of Ruskin set a pole vault record with a 14-feet, three-inch leap.

In the 880-yard relay, Beaumont bettered its record of last season by eight tenths of a second for a time of 1:28.2.

Ritenour ran a 3:20.9 mile relay for a new mark, bettering Beaumont's 1963 relay teams mark of 3:21.2.

Wolfe, whose lake opened this morning, will have one 20-acre lake operating this year after having two 20-acre lakes in operation last year.

The lake is stocked with many varieties and the person to catch the biggest today will be awarded a $10 prize plus all his fish and the day's fishing free.

I think I'll go over to a fish market and see if I can purchase a fairly large fish and see if I can be the winner. We think he's measured all the fish and are the same size. . . .How about that channel hog?

SIX TEAMS will compete for the Black River Connie Mack baseball title this summer.

Among those six is Sikeston's Potlatch team, which won the title and the district title last season.

Dexter and Puxico open league action June 5 at 8 p.m.

All regularly scheduled games will start at that time.

Double headers are schedule to start at 8 p.m. but by a mutual agreement the game may start earlier. Doubleheaders will consist of one five and one seven-inning game.

The season will run from June 5 through July 20 with the battling for the district title and the right to advance to Texas.

Cards, A's Edge Closer To Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis moved to within 2½ games of the National League leading Cincinnati Reds Sunday by edging the Mets 3-2 in New York.

The A's jumped off to a 4-0 lead against the American League leading Chicago White Sox in the third, added another run in the sixth and then, barely escaped with a 5-4 victory in Kansas City. The third place A's trail the White Sox by 4½ games.

Solo home runs by Lou Brock and Roger Maris and a run that scored on a double play ball in the sixth provided the Cards with their winning margin.

Bud Harrelson singled in the Mets first run in the third and Cleon Jones homered to account for the second run in the seventh.

Ray Washburn went the distance for the Cards to record his second victory against two losses. He allowed seven hits, walked no one and struck out three. It was the fifth straight victory for the Cards.

Don Cardwell suffered his fifth loss for the Mets against two victories.

Kansas City put together six consecutive hits after two were out in the third for four runs. Rick Monday, Mike Hershberger, Dick Green, Sal Bando and Jim Gosger all singled and Danny Cater sandwiched a double in the middle of the rally.

The White Sox picked up two runs in the fourth on four hits, including Wayne Causey's double.

Phil Roof ended the A's scoring as he drove a long single to left in the sixth to score Bando who walked.

A single, triple and another single gave the White Sox their final runs in the ninth before reliever Jack Aker got Don Buford on an easy grounder for the third out.

Jim Nash pitched 8 1-3 innings before he tired, but with Aker's help received credit for his fifth victory against three losses. Nash allowed nine hits, walked one and struck out seven and he retired 15 consecutive batters from the fourth until the ninth.

It was the seventh victory for the A's in their last nine games and the fourth straight series they have won.

St. Louis is idle today, but the A's move to the West Coast where they will play the Angels tonight. Chuck Dobson is slated to pitch for Kansas City and Jim McGlothlin for the Angels.

Andretti Makes $2,200

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — American drivers will fill the first 15 spots in the record-smashing 33-car field of the 51st 500-mile auto race May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

But they'll know some never-quit European Grand Prix drivers will be charging up from far back in the field.

Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., defending U.S. Auto Club champion, took speed honors with 168.982 miles per hour and the $2,200 top qualifying prize in 10-mile elimination runs concluded Sunday.

The only unfinished business is a protest that the car of Jochen Rindt of Austria was below the weight limit. The protest was filed by J. Marshall Robbins, owner of the car driven by Lucien Bianchi of Belgium.

The drivers from the world road racing circuit took the applause for sheer determination.

Graham Hill of London, the 1966 Indianapolis winner, will have to start in the last row but it appeared unlikely he would be in the lineup at all. He used two Lotus Fords and a garage full of engines before qualifying at the third-slowest speed of 163.317 m.p.h.

Jackie Stewart of Scotland, who had the '66 race won until his engine failed with 25 miles to go, was "bumped" from the lineup after qualifying at a too-slow 162.221. He broke a connecting rod Sunday morning in his backup Lola-Ford but got a new engine and made the field at a brisk 164.099.

Rindt, of Vienna, also had to qualify two cars before sticking in the lineup. He finaly made it in an Eagle Ford at 163.051. He was No. 2 in the Grand Prix races last year.

The protest against Rindt said his car was below the 1,300-pound limit for Speedway cars.

U.S. Auto Club officials impounded the car and said it will be weighed today.

Bianchi's car is the first alternate for the race. If Rindt's car was disqualified because of the weight, Bianchi's car would be inserted in the starting lineup.

Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., who also was stopped by engine trouble on the first qualifying weekend, was fastest qualifier of the last two sessions with a run at 165.563 Saturday in an Eagle-Ford.

Dan Gurney, international racer from Santa Ana, Calif., came out of the trials doubly happy. His qualifying speed of 167.224 was second only to Andretti's record and six of his All American Eagle cars made the lineup.

Four Lotus Fords, four Gerhardt turbocharged Offenhausers and three Gerhardt Fords were the only challengers of the Gurney vehicles. The Eagles are an American version of the Lotus.

The final field averaged 164.173 m.p.h., against the 1966 record of 160.251. It contains only five rookies, against the record low of four first-time starters in 1960.

Southeast Missourian Claims First In State

COLUMBIA -- Beaumont and Kansas City Central shared honors in the Missouri high school class L track meet Saturday by scoring 28 1/2 points to tie for top honors.

Cape Girardeau Central's Fil Blackiston threw the shot 57 feet, nine inches for second and heaved the discus 160 feet 1/2 inches for second.

The only Southeast Missourian to take a first place was Kennett's Greg Buys, who sailed the discus 171 feet, seven and one third inches. Blackiston was defending champion.

Six records were broken, including a 35-year old record in the 100-yard dash and a 27-yard dash.

Beaumont's Vern Wellington set both marks with a 9.6 time in the 100 and a 20.8 in the 220.

Other records broken were in the high jump, pole vault, 880-yard relay and mile relay.

Don Stevenson of Paseo high in Kansas City jumped 6 feet and seven inches for a high jump mark.

John Beeson of Ruskin set a pole vault record with a 14-feet, three-inch leap.

In the 880-yard relay, Beaumont bettered its record of last season by eight tenths of a second for a time of 1:28.2.

Ritenour ran a 3:20.9 mile relay for a new mark, bettering Beaumont's 1963 relay teams mark of 3:21.2.

School of Ozarks Sets Final High School Rites

POINT LOOKOUT, Mo. (AP) — Nineteen students are scheduled to receive diplomas May 28 when the last high school class is graduated from The School of the Ozarks.

The high school is being discontinued. There are 69 candidates for baccalaureate degrees.

Until two years ago the college offered junior college courses, and is now a four-year accredited school.

The School of the Ozarks was established in 1906 to meet the needs of young people in the hill country. Students pay for room, board and tuition by working in the school's 22 industries.

Ichard Tells Rifle Concern

ST. LOUIS (AP) - A congressman said Friday he is concerned that troops in Vietnam may not be getting the new M-16 automatic rifle fast enough. Rep. Richard Ichard, D-Mo., described the M-16 rifle as "one of the best weapons the American soldier has ever had."

Ichord is a member of the House Armed Services Committee which is investigating the new rifle. He said he has received complaints of frequent jamming of the M-16, adding that one of the contributing factors is lack of training.

"I doubt if it's possible to make an automatic rifle that is jam proof," the congressman said.

Legion of Merit For WAC Colonel

ARLINGTON HALL STATION, Va. -- The military career of WAC Lieutenant Col. Martha Schuchart Sachs, awarded the legion of merit on her retirement, mirrors the history of women's role in the army and the army security agency.

The agency's only WAC career specialist, she spent 21 years with the command from 1944 to 1967 with one break -- 1955 to 1957 -- when she was detailed to the WAC center at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

As a young Missouri school teacher she was one of the earliest volunteers for service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, enlisting in November 1942. She went through basic training and officer candidate school at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, and was then commissioned a third officer -- equivalent to second lieutenant -- in the WAAC.

The WAAC had been established on May 14, 1942, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the bill introduced in the Congress in 1941 by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts. In July 1943 President Roosevelt signed public law 110, establishing the Women's Army Corps as an army component. The WAC became a permanent part of the army June 12, 1948, with the signing of a law by President Harry S. Truman.

Accompanying the legion of merit presented LTC Sachs by USASA Commander Major General Charles J. Denholm is a citation which pays tribute to the WAC officer for the sense of mission and dedicated professional performance of her duties for the last 10 years of her career. It reads in part:

"Ltc. Martha Schuchart Sachs . . . distinguished herself by exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service from July 1957 to April 1967. During this period Col. Sachs served successively as Chief, Personnel Services Branch, Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, GI, Headquarters USASA; as Administrative Officer to the Deputy Post Commander, 4th USASA Field Station, Asmara, Eritrea, Ethiopia; as Chief, Administrative Services Division, Office of the Adjutant General, Headquarters, USASA; and then as Deputy Adjutant General, Headquarters USASA.

"In each of these responsible positions, Col. Sachs' inspiring leadership, professional competence and sound judgment contributed in great measure to the successful accomplishment of major military objectives. Her initiative, resourcefulness, and administrative excellence markedly improved the operation of the complex personnel services activities affecting world - wide elements of the Agency, elevated the administration functions of the 4th USASA Field Station... in statute and effectiveness and materially assisted the Headquarters, USASA, in achieving its mission.

"Through her discernment, broad knowledge, and friendly spirit of cooperation she inspired maximum effort among her associates and consistently achieved optimum results throughout the wide and diverse areas of her responsibility.

"By her professional acumen, diligent efforts, and devotion to duty, she materially enhanced the prestige of the Army and earned the highest regard of all associated with her.

"Col. Sachs' distinguished performance of duty throughout this period represents outstanding achievement in the most cherished traditions of the United States Army and reflects the utmost credit upon herself and the military service."

A native of Sikeston, Mo., Miss Schuchart attended high school in Morehouse, Mo., and in 1940 graduated from Southeast Missouri State College. She served as a teacher in Missouri public schools from 1932 to 1942.

Early in her military career, the WAC officer completed the Chemical Warfare School at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., later attending the USASA School at Ft. Denvens, Mass., and an Army Intelligence school in Germany.

During her career, Ltc. Sachs has served in the Philippines, Japan, Germany, and Africa. In addition to the legion of merit, she wears the army commendation medal for meritorious service.

As president of the Arlington County, Va., chapter of ZONTA, LTC Scahs has helped provide leadership for this international organization of executives and professional women.

Now out of uniform, Martha Schuchart Sachs lives with her husband, Abner, at 5045 North 5th St., Arlington, Va.

Elusive Bank Robber Pulls 16th Heist

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police and FBI agents call him "the Big Man."

He's better known as "the Commuter bandit," an elusive gunman who has robbed 16 Pittsburgh banks of $171,593 over the past 5½ years.

He pulled his most recent job Wednesday, melting into the rush-hour traffic with $19,700.

Who he is and what he does when he isn't sticking up banks is anyone's guess.

The most popular theory is that he lives respectably in the suburbs. When he needs a lot of money in a hurry, he holds up a bank.

Officials say the Commuter is big, between 6 feet and 6-feet-2. He is between 40 and 57, weighs 200 to 240 pounds, with a barrel chest, square shoulders, an oval, clean-shaven face, blue eyes and sandy, receding hair.

Each of his holdups has followed the same basic pattern.

He usually strikes between noon and 3:30 p.m.

He walks into a bank and asks for change - a roll of quarters, for example.

He arouses no immediate suspicion because he looks so much like any other customer.

He may wear slacks, a sport shirt open at the neck, a jacket, a cap.

Casually he pushes a note and a paper bag to the teller. It says something like: "Be quiet- be quick or your dead- — no alarm — put all $5-$10-$20 in bag and hand it to me quietly and quickly or your dead!"

He is usually armed with an automatic, believed to be .45 caliber. Only once has he fired it, squeezing off a shot at a wooden railing.

He leaves as casually as he enters, gets into a car, usually an older model and usually stolen, drives to the spot he parked his own car and disappears.

When his car engine caught fire as he was making his getaway after robbing a downtown bank on July 1, 1964, he calmly stopped in the middle of a heavily traveled boulevard and stepped away into the sidewalk traffic.

Several police cars, including one carrying FBI agents, were only a few yards away.

Trying to track down the Commuter has been a long and frustrating grind.

"Our investigations have ranged throughout the continental United States and a few foreign countries," an FBI spokesman said.

FBI officials feel that the same man committed the 16 robberies attributed to the Commuter. City police, on the other hand, believe that several persons may have pulled the holdups.

The Prayer
From The Upper Room

Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. (Matthews 18:3)

PRAYER: God, our heavenly Father, we pray that we may have childlike faith in Thee. Take away our trust in self that we may humbly rely on Thee. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

In an Oakland, Calif., shop which had recently been burglarized: "Even robbers prefer our merchandise."

WAC LT. COL. MARTHA SCHUCHART SACHS (center) is congratulated by Col. Elizabeth P. Hoisington, director of the Women's Army Corps, following presentation of the legion of merit awarded Ltc. Sachs on her retirement from the Army at Arlington Hall Station, Va. Maj. Gen. Charles J. Denholm commander of the Army Security Agency, presented the decoration. Ltc. Sachs served as deputy adjutant general, of the USASA.

Legion of Merit For WAC Colonel

ARLINGTON HALL STATION, Va. -- The military career of WAC Lieutenant Col. Martha Schuchart Sachs, awarded the legion of merit on her retirement, mirrors the history of women's role in the army and the army security agency.

The agency's only WAC career specialist, she spent 21 years with the command from 1944 to 1967 with one break -- 1955 to 1957 -- when she was detailed to the WAC center at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

As a young Missouri school teacher she was one of the earliest volunteers for service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, enlisting in November 1942. She went through basic training and officer candidate school at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, and was then commissioned a third officer -- equivalent to second lieutenant -- in the WAAC.

The WAAC had been established on May 14, 1942, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the bill introduced in the Congress in 1941 by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts. In July 1943 President Roosevelt signed public law 110, establishing the Women's Army Corps as an army component. The WAC became a permanent part of the army June 12, 1948, with the signing of a law by President Harry S. Truman.

Accompanying the legion of merit presented LTC Sachs by USASA Commander Major General Charles J. Denholm is a citation which pays tribute to the WAC officer for the sense of mission and dedicated professional performance of her duties for the last 10 years of her career. It reads in part:

"Ltc. Martha Schuchart Sachs . . . distinguished herself by exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service from July 1957 to April 1967. During this period Col. Sachs served successively as Chief, Personnel Services Branch, Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, GI, Headquarters USASA; as Administrative Officer to the Deputy Post Commander, 4th USASA Field Station, Asmara, Eritrea, Ethiopia; as Chief, Administrative Services Division, Office of the Adjutant General, Headquarters, USASA; and then as Deputy Adjutant General, Headquarters USASA.

"In each of these responsible positions, Col. Sachs' inspiring leadership, professional competence and sound judgment contributed in great measure to the successful accomplishment of major military objectives. Her initiative, resourcefulness, and administrative excellence markedly improved the operation of the complex personnel services activities affecting world - wide elements of the Agency, elevated the administration functions of the 4th USASA Field Station... in statute and effectiveness and materially assisted the Headquarters, USASA, in achieving its mission.

"Through her discernment, broad knowledge, and friendly spirit of cooperation she inspired maximum effort among her associates and consistently achieved optimum results throughout the wide and diverse areas of her responsibility.

"By her professional acumen, diligent efforts, and devotion to duty, she materially enhanced the prestige of the Army and earned the highest regard of all associated with her.

"Col. Sachs' distinguished performance of duty throughout this period represents outstanding achievement in the most cherished traditions of the United States Army and reflects the utmost credit upon herself and the military service."

A native of Sikeston, Mo., Miss Schuchart attended high school in Morehouse, Mo., and in 1940 graduated from Southeast Missouri State College. She served as a teacher in Missouri public schools from 1932 to 1942.

Early in her military career, the WAC officer completed the Chemical Warfare School at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., later attending the USASA School at Ft. Denvens, Mass., and an Army Intelligence school in Germany.

During her career, Ltc. Sachs has served in the Philippines, Japan, Germany, and Africa. In addition to the legion of merit, she wears the army commendation medal for meritorious service.

As president of the Arlington County, Va., chapter of ZONTA, LTC Scahs has helped provide leadership for this international organization of executives and professional women.

Now out of uniform, Martha Schuchart Sachs lives with her husband, Abner, at 5045 North 5th St., Arlington, Va.

Elusive Bank Robber Pulls 16th Heist

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police and FBI agents call him "the Big Man."

He's better known as "the Commuter bandit," an elusive gunman who has robbed 16 Pittsburgh banks of $171,593 over the past 5½ years.

He pulled his most recent job Wednesday, melting into the rush-hour traffic with $19,700.

Who he is and what he does when he isn't sticking up banks is anyone's guess.

The most popular theory is that he lives respectably in the suburbs. When he needs a lot of money in a hurry, he holds up a bank.

Officials say the Commuter is big, between 6 feet and 6-feet-2. He is between 40 and 57, weighs 200 to 240 pounds, with a barrel chest, square shoulders, an oval, clean-shaven face, blue eyes and sandy, receding hair.

Each of his holdups has followed the same basic pattern.

He usually strikes between noon and 3:30 p.m.

He walks into a bank and asks for change - a roll of quarters, for example.

He arouses no immediate suspicion because he looks so much like any other customer.

He may wear slacks, a sport shirt open at the neck, a jacket, a cap.

Casually he pushes a note and a paper bag to the teller. It says something like: "Be quiet- be quick or your dead- — no alarm — put all $5-$10-$20 in bag and hand it to me quietly and quickly or your dead!"

He is usually armed with an automatic, believed to be .45 caliber. Only once has he fired it, squeezing off a shot at a wooden railing.

He leaves as casually as he enters, gets into a car, usually an older model and usually stolen, drives to the spot he parked his own car and disappears.

When his car engine caught fire as he was making his getaway after robbing a downtown bank on July 1, 1964, he calmly stopped in the middle of a heavily traveled boulevard and stepped away into the sidewalk traffic.

Several police cars, including one carrying FBI agents, were only a few yards away.

Trying to track down the Commuter has been a long and frustrating grind.

"Our investigations have ranged throughout the continental United States and a few foreign countries," an FBI spokesman said.

FBI officials feel that the same man committed the 16 robberies attributed to the Commuter. City police, on the other hand, believe that several persons may have pulled the holdups.

From The Upper Room

Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. (Matthews 18:3)

PRAYER: God, our heavenly Father, we pray that we may have childlike faith in Thee. Take away our trust in self that we may humbly rely on Thee. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. C. L. Blanton, Jr., Editor
Sikeston Daily Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Charlie:

The following has been taken from a monthly letter received from Bruce Memorial, one of our suppliers. We believe it is worthy of passing along to your readers:

"All over our country people will be visiting the cemeteries on Memorial Day. Many will be visiting the graves of recently departed loved ones who have gone to rest since last Memorial Day. Many of the older graves will have no visitors because those who once cared are no longer living. But although those who rest in the older graves are no longer remembered, they once lived and loved and were loved.

Visiting the cemetery should make us realize that we, too, shall some day be as the departed ones now are, and that life's span here on earth, after all, is of short duration.

And when we're in the golden years
And memories tell our story,
It doesn't seem to matter much
If we reach fame or glory,
The things that seem to count
Before our journey ends,
Are whether we are loved
And worthy of our friends.

In any town, city or community, people are born, live and die, and the memorials in the cemeteries are a record of those who have passed on. A walk through the cemetery in the little town where we were born and grew up is like visiting old friends. As we read the names on the monuments and markers, we picture them as they were when they lived."

Very truly yours,

During World War II, many non-swimmers at the Naval Training Stations were required to take swimming lessons nightly after a full day of drilling until they became qualified swimmers.

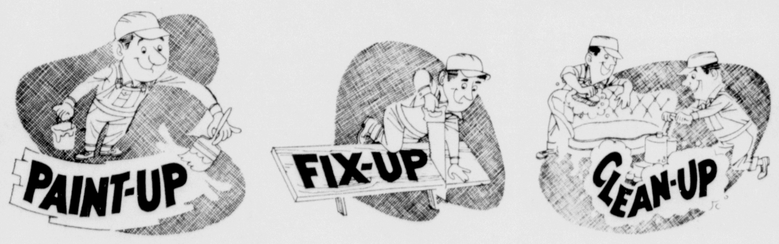

One Southern boy was really getting nowhere, and the chief in charge of instructing him asked, "What's the matter, boy? Why can't you swim? Haven't you got any water in Kentucky?"

After a short blank stare, the recruit replied, "Yes suh, chief -- we have air, too, but I can't fly!"

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in the hope that I can give "B. Fuddled" confidence in her sanity. She wrote about a neighbor's poodle who used to say, "I want to go outside." When she reported this unusual happening to her friends they told her she was nuts. Well, if she is nuts then I am, too, because we have a 13-year-old rat terrier who says, "I want out."

I am not claiming that our dog talks, because she doesn't say anything except that one sentence. But she does say it very clearly and only when she wants to go out, so I believe she knows what it means. More than one guest has turned white as a sheet when he heard our dog speak. Please print this. Thanks -- NUT NUMBER TWO

Dear Ann: Tell "B. Fuddled" she is not crazy. Our dog, Heinz, (57 varieties) says, "Howdy, partner," "Vas you der, Cholly?" and "Good night all." It all started when Heinz sneezed and my husband said "Gesundheit." We almost fell over when the dog repeated after Him, "Gesundheit." We have tried to teach Heinz to say other words, but for some mysterious reason he refuses. I guess you can say we have a talking dog, too. - - COVINA, CAL.

Dear Ann Landers: What is so special about a dog that says, "I want to go outside?" Our schnauzer speaks Italian. He says, "Mamma Mia," "Grazie" and "Bella Signora." When he hears "Arrivederci Roma" on the radio he puts his head between his paws and cries. The kids have tried to teach the dog Latin, but so far no luck. We will let you know if they succeed. Print this letter if you want to, but please don't give away the name of our city. Many local people know about our dog, but we don't want our home to become a tourist attraction. Thanks. -- PROUD OF HIM

Dear Ann Landers: Tell the lady she has not flipped. Dogs CAN talk. I would not have believed it but I saw with my own eyes and heard with my own ears a dog that talked on the Johnny Carson Show. When the dog said, "I love you," Johnny laughed so hard he almost fell of his chair. -- A LATE LATE FAN

Dear Ann Landers: Tell the lady not to let them cart her off to the booby hatch. A few years ago my husband told me about a bulldog that sang Irish ditties in a bar off Clark Street in Chicago. I told my husband if he didn't stop drinking beer with rum chasers, he was going to hear some other things, like a judge saying, "Divorce granted." Well, we argued a lot over that singing dog, and finally my husband insisted that I see for myself. I hate bars but I went. Sure enough, Ann, that bulldog sat on top of the piano and harmonized with Paddy, the piano player. Their best number was "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and I must say the dog did a better job than most Irish tenors. This was several years ago but I'll bet some Chicago people still remember it. When the dog got pneumonia and died, they had to close the place. -- MRS. KLT

Dear Ann: We've all heard joked about parrots that yelled out dirty words when the minister came to call. But have you ever heard of a dog that did the same thing? Well, my husband has a warped sense of humor and he taught our boxer some terrible words. After three embarrassing experiences with company, I gave the dog to my sister who lives on a farm. Now I can relax for the first time in ten years.

PRAYER

Lord,
Let my life part of the answer be,
As down life's road I tread,
Instead of part of the problem to Thee.
Let me light others' way instead.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE
By Jack Strass L. L. D.

THE CASE OF THE SOFT-HEARTED EMPLOYEE

Marvin worked for a company that had a steady business. It was so steady, in fact, that it was almost motionless. Consequently, his boss asked him if he would agree to waive his salary until things picked up. While Marvin was quick to agree to the waiver, his own financial situation soon became as embarrassing as that of his company. And, after suffering through three months of a personal depression, he finally demanded payment of his back salary.

"But Marvin," his boss pleaded, "you agreed to waive your salary until business improved and it's still as bad as ever."

"I agreed with my heart," was Marvin's answer, "but not with my head. Since a contract isn't binding unless something is received in exchange, I'm not bound by our agreement. While I agreed to waive my salary, all you did was agree not to pay it. Obviously, I received nothing in exchange for my waiver."

When his back salary wasn't forthcoming, Marvin took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUGE, would you compel payment of Marvin's back salary?

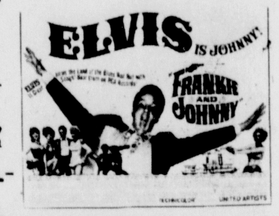

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that Marvin had, in fact, received something of value in exchange for his waiver, to wit: his boss allowed him to work for nothing. Even that, the judge pointed out, is considered good exchange.

(Based upon a 1955 Mass. Supreme Judicial Court Decision)

TODAY'S LEGAL POINTER:

When a person pays another person's bill without being asked to do so, he is considered a volunteer. As such, he cannot normally require the other person to pay him back.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in the hope that I can give "B. Fuddled" confidence in her sanity. She wrote about a neighbor's poodle who used to say, "I want to go outside." When she reported this unusual happening to her friends they told her she was nuts. Well, if she is nuts then I am, too, because we have a 13-year-old rat terrier who says, "I want out."

I am not claiming that our dog talks, because she doesn't say anything except that one sentence. But she does say it very clearly and only when she wants to go out, so I believe she knows what it means. More than one guest has turned white as a sheet when he heard our dog speak. Please print this. Thanks -- NUT NUMBER TWO

Dear Ann: Tell "B. Fuddled" she is not crazy. Our dog, Heinz, (57 varieties) says, "Howdy, partner," "Vas you der, Cholly?" and "Good night all." It all started when Heinz sneezed and my husband said "Gesundheit." We almost fell over when the dog repeated after Him, "Gesundheit." We have tried to teach Heinz to say other words, but for some mysterious reason he refuses. I guess you can say we have a talking dog, too. - - COVINA, CAL.

Dear Ann Landers: What is so special about a dog that says, "I want to go outside?" Our schnauzer speaks Italian. He says, "Mamma Mia," "Grazie" and "Bella Signora." When he hears "Arrivederci Roma" on the radio he puts his head between his paws and cries. The kids have tried to teach the dog Latin, but so far no luck. We will let you know if they succeed. Print this letter if you want to, but please don't give away the name of our city. Many local people know about our dog, but we don't want our home to become a tourist attraction. Thanks. -- PROUD OF HIM

Dear Ann Landers: Tell the lady she has not flipped. Dogs CAN talk. I would not have believed it but I saw with my own eyes and heard with my own ears a dog that talked on the Johnny Carson Show. When the dog said, "I love you," Johnny laughed so hard he almost fell of his chair. -- A LATE LATE FAN

Dear Ann Landers: Tell the lady not to let them cart her off to the booby hatch. A few years ago my husband told me about a bulldog that sang Irish ditties in a bar off Clark Street in Chicago. I told my husband if he didn't stop drinking beer with rum chasers, he was going to hear some other things, like a judge saying, "Divorce granted." Well, we argued a lot over that singing dog, and finally my husband insisted that I see for myself. I hate bars but I went. Sure enough, Ann, that bulldog sat on top of the piano and harmonized with Paddy, the piano player. Their best number was "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and I must say the dog did a better job than most Irish tenors. This was several years ago but I'll bet some Chicago people still remember it. When the dog got pneumonia and died, they had to close the place. -- MRS. K. L T

Dear Ann: We've all heard joked about parrots that yelled out dirty words when the minister came to call. But have you ever heard of a dog that did the same thing? Well, my husband has a warped sense of humor and he taught our boxer some terrible words. After three embarrassing experiences with company, I gave the dog to my sister who lives on a farm. Now I can relax for the first time in ten years.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PRAYER

Lord,
Let my life part of the answer be,
As down life's road I tread,
Instead of part of the problem to Thee.
Let me light others' way instead.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE
By Jack Strass L. L. D.

THE CASE OF THE SOFT-HEARTED EMPLOYEE

Marvin worked for a company that had a steady business. It was so steady, in fact, that it was almost motionless. Consequently, his boss asked him if he would agree to waive his salary until things picked up. While Marvin was quick to agree to the waiver, his own financial situation soon became as embarrassing as that of his company. And, after suffering through three months of a personal depression, he finally demanded payment of his back salary.

"But Marvin," his boss pleaded, "you agreed to waive your salary until business improved and it's still as bad as ever."

"I agreed with my heart," was Marvin's answer, "but not with my head. Since a contract isn't binding unless something is received in exchange, I'm not bound by our agreement. While I agreed to waive my salary, all you did was agree not to pay it. Obviously, I received nothing in exchange for my waiver."

When his back salary wasn't forthcoming, Marvin took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUGE, would you compel payment of Marvin's back salary?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that Marvin had, in fact, received something of value in exchange for his waiver, to wit: his boss allowed him to work for nothing. Even that, the judge pointed out, is considered good exchange.

(Based upon a 1955 Mass. Supreme Judicial Court Decision)

Relating the lackadasical attitude of some Christians today, the Rev. Mr. Wagner said, "More and more are we like bird dogs -- pointers and setters. We meet in little groups and point out our problems and then keep on settin."

"It is highly significant that when Jesus put the responsibility of changing the world on the shoulders of the Christians, He promised them all the power they would ever need at a price but it would be there. And the only thing that has delayed the coming of the Kingdom for so many centuries is the reluctance to pay this price. Man needs to let his pride go and let God's grace win," he said.

Christianity is a proclamation that we are always in debt for this secret, and that service to our brethern is our privilege and opportunity to show our gratitude, the Reverend continued.

He then related a story about a man walking home one night through rainy weather in a slum district. The man heard the wimpering crys of a small child, who was wet, cold and hungry.

It seemed as though in that moment, that child represented all the children of the world -- the hungry, the grimy, the tear - stained. He thought, even this little child, multiplied by the love of Christ, may be transformed into a magnificent and radiant child of God, the Reverend continued.

"We are the agents for what God would do for the world using the secret in our hand," he concluded.
